CONVICTION FOR DEATH FAULT OF HUSBAND

Tiger Woman Protests Love For Man She Blames For Her Arrest

By WILLIAM PARKER
For International News Service

NEARING LOS ANGELES, WITH CLARA PHILLIPS AND HER GUARDS, June 1.—"I still love Armour Phillips, but it was his fault that I was convicted of the murder of Alberta Meadows, his fault and the perjured testimony of Peggy Caffee."

Prefacing her remarks with this paradoxical declaration of blame and devotion, Mrs. Clara Phillips today outlined to the International News Service definite and hitherto unpublished information on which she expects to be acquitted if granted a new trial.

Mrs. Phillips, too, took issue with Madalynne Obenchain on several points which have developed since Mrs. Phillips escaped from the Los Angeles county jail December 5, last year, and fled to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, where she was arrested.

The specific points concerning Mrs. Obenchain are these:

During Mrs. Phillips' trial she appeared one day with a big black hat which was recognized by the reporters as being one of Mrs. Obenchain's hats.

Tells Hat Incident

During the course of an extended interview with the International News Service correspondent, just before she was freed last December of the charge of having murdered J. Belton Kennedy, Mrs. Obenchain was asked to explain the hat incident. This was what she said:

"I did not know Mrs. Phillips had my hat until she returned to the jail, then she (Mrs. Phillips) said to me, 'Oh, Mrs. Obenchain, I believe I have one of your hats.' Mrs. Phillips said she was down in the matron's room before going to court, and the matron picked up a hat and told her to put it on, saying that she did not know whose hat it was."

Mrs. Phillips, in talking today to the same correspondent who interviewed Mrs. Obenchain, told a different story.

"Mrs Obenchain and I occupied adjoining cells. I did not have a big hat which would hide my features, so Mrs. Obenchain brought in one of her hats, a big black one, and said, 'Wear this, Clara.' That is how I happened to wear Mrs. Obenchain's hat."

The second point on which Mrs. Phillips takes issue with Mrs. Obenchain is concerning an incident with regard to some personal effects. Not long ago a young man, whose name is Harry Carlton, turned over to the sheriff's office a package containing articles he said Mrs. Obenchain gave him and which, he said, she told him to "keep until she called or sent for them."

In the package was a pink silk night gown, a frame from which a photograph had been taken and a number of toilet articles. The sheriff's office identified these articles as having been the property of Clara Phillips. Subsequently Mrs. Obenchain was called to the district attorney's office and made a statement declaring that she did not know to whom the articles belonged, that they must have been packed with hers by mistake, and that she had given them to Carlton with no thought in mind of disposing of them.

Questioned regarding the incident, Mrs. Phillips today said:

"Yes, those were my things, the night gown and the frame, it was one from which my husband's picture was removed, and the toilet articles. Mrs. Obenchain knew they were mine when she took them from the jail, but the circumstances of the matter I do not care to state just now. That is a matter I would prefer to discuss first with a lawyer.

"Mrs. Obenchain's name has been constantly connected with mine," she added, "because I escaped so soon after she was released. All this talk is unfounded and unjust to Mrs. Obenchain. She knew nothing of my escape and had no part in it. My escape from the Los Angeles county jail was due entirely to Jesse Carson. There was no inside or other assistance. He worked entirely alone."

CONTINUE SUGAR PROBE

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The government's investigation of alleged sugar profiteers will be extended to the sugar beet fields of the west, to Porto Rico and to Hawaii, Thomas O. Marvin, chairman of the tariff commission, announced this afternoon, following a conference with President Harding.

JEWEL ROBBERY

CHICAGO, June 1.—The theft of $20,000 in jewels from the home of Franklin P. Smith, millionaire iron manufacturer, was reported today to Chicago police. Search was ordered at once for a recently hired "model butler" who vanished at the same time the jewels did.

Tiger Woman To Be Taken From Train In Secret

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—To avoid the carrying out of a plot to allow Mrs. Clara Phillips, recaptured "hammer murderess" to escape from the custody of local officers, the "tiger woman" will be taken off the train at some small town before it reaches Los Angeles tonight and rushed to the county jail in a closed automobile under heavy guard, it was learned today. By this method the officers will avoid the large crowd which is expected to gather at the Southern Pacific station to meet the train bearing Mrs. Phillips.

While these preparations were being made, quick moves were also being made by the district attorney's office to bring about action that will result in her being taken immediately to San Quentin penitentiary.

One of the most important steps to be taken today was when Chief Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes went into Judge McCormick's court and asked the judge to sign the commitment papers authorizing the immediate removal of Mrs. Phillips to San Quentin.

A decision by the judge to sign the papers would mean that Mrs. Phillips will be taken to the penitentiary after a 40 minute lay-over here tonight. Refusal of the judge to sign the papers will mean that she will remain in jail here until her appeal for a new trial is acted upon.

BRITISH TO BAR RED PROPAGANDA

Main Issue in Settlement of Dispute Is Spread of Soviet Views

MOSCOW, June 1.—Only three of the numerous points in the dispute between Great Britain and Soviet Russia are regarded as settled by the British foreign office, it was learned today.

Of the points still at issue, the question of Bolshevist propaganda is said to be the most serious.

Soviet Russia declared the latest British note must not be regarded as supporting the original British ultimatum, "which leaves the situation still difficult."

Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, in his note of last week, demanded that the soviet refuse funds to any organization "aiming to destroy institutions in Asia, where the British are in control."

The British claim the three main seats of soviet propaganda in Asia are Persia, India and Afghanistan.

Mutilator of Yucca Plant Is Assessed $5

In using the law as a means of preserving California's yucca plants, Justice Harry W. Chase yesterday fined Dave Frederick of Glendale $5 for cutting one of the blooms. The state law covering this offense is a fine not to exceed $50 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty days, or both.

This is for destroying, mutilating or cutting a yucca plant on either public or private property without a permit.

Justice Chase also fined Hugh Weaver, a local high school boy, $25 for starting a brush fire at Montrose without a permit. The county fine for this offense is $25 and the state fine $50.

A final meeting will be held in the I. O. O. F. Hall, 201-A West Broadway, tonight to perfect plans for the institution on June 8 of a pyramid of the Ancient Egyptian Order of Sciots. FOREST FIRES RAGING IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN

Thousands of Acres Being Burned Over; Big Loss Of Timber, Report

DETROIT, June 1. — Forest fires continue raging today in northern Michigan, menacing towns and resorts and destroying thousands of acres of timber.

At Witch Lake, forty miles from Marquette, several men engaged in fighting the flames escaped death by crawling on their hands and knees through brush and smoke.

A fire on the cut-over timber lands near Pentwater was well under control today after menacing the Oceana beach summer resort of fifty houses last night, destroying one. One hundred townsmen of Pentwater fought the flames back at the beach and farmers fought an all-night battle with the brush fires threatening Munsing.

No loss of life has been reported.

Threatening Lives

TORONTO, Ont., June 1. — With rain badly needed, brush and forest fires sweeping across different sections of northern Ontario and Quebec are again menacing lives and property in many sections. At many points telegraph and telephone communication has been destroyed.

Every available man in the district is fighting the fires, which are sweeping through the balsam and jack pine forest surrounding the town of White River, Ontario, and the inhabitants are standing by ready to board a special train which has been prepared to move them. Household goods have already been loaded on the train.

WEBB STORE OPEN ON MONDAY NIGHT

Formal Dedication of New Building to Take Place From 6 to 10:30 P. M.

Glendalians have long anticipated the opening of the new store home of the H. S. Webb & Co. in the Emery-Webb building at 139 North Brand boulevard, and the announcement of the formal opening Monday night, June 4, from 6 till 10:30 o'clock will be received with great interest. There will be music and other features.

The new store building is declared a perfect piece of architecture and represents an expenditure of $125,000. Into this splendid structure have been installed the most artistic and modern fixtures and furnishings, combining in a wonderful setting for the displayal of stock.

Many new departments have been added by Mr. Webb and the personnel of his staff increased.

Furnishing Store Stays

There is only one department of the business remaining at the former location, 103 South Brand, and that is the men's furnishings, which has grown to such proportions that Mr. Webb deemed it promising to maintain one of the most exclusive men's stores in Glendale.

Congratulatory messages have already begun to pour into Mr. Webb's office and, in addition to the crowds of Glendalians received at the new store Monday night, there will undoubtedly be messages coming from all parts of the United States.

Complete details concerning the new store will appear in The Glendale Evening News tomorrow.

It will be followed by a ball game.

PLOT TO GET IN CONTROL OF FRENCH REPUBLIC

Royalists and Fascisti in Plan, Claim; Chamber of Deputies Dispute

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

PARIS, June 1.—Intimation that the combined groups of Royalists and Facisti are planning a coup to attempt to gain control of the French government was given in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon. The session was marked by stormy scenes and an anti-Fascisti demonstration.

Deputy Herriott demanded that the government take measures to protect the republic from Royalists and Fascisti.

The Poincare cabinet demanded a vote of confidence from the chamber on its measures to repress the Fascisti and obtained it, the ballot standing, for the government 343, against the government 181.

It was officially admitted that the government is in possession of information showing that a national organization of Fascisti and Royalists exists in France.

Minister of Interior Maunoury admitted, to the chamber that the combined organizations were strong but said the authorities knew all the plans. In an address to the chamber Maunoury said:

"The arrests of Fascisti leaders last night enabled the police to seize documents showing that the organization has spread throughout France. These documents disclose a detailed plan of action."

Stage Demonstration

An anti-Fascisti demonstration took place in parliament building this afternoon as the result of attacks upon three members of the chamber of deputies, members of the Fascisti-Royalist faction here last night.

About 100 deputies surrounded Alphonz Daudet, Fascisti leader, in the lobby of the chamber of deputies shouting and threatening violence. Friends hustled Daudet out of harm's way.

Daudet was one of the foremost spokesmen of the Fascisti Royalist group on the floor of the chamber.

Certain deputies who are opposed to the organization had given notice they would demand information as to what precautions Premier Poincare plans to safeguard members of the chamber from Fascisti attacks in the future.

Arrest Two Leaders

Two leaders of the French Fascisti—Henry Martin and M. De Lorgeril—less were arrested.

The trouble started last night. Three French deputies, in various parts of the city, were assaulted while on their way to attend an anti-Fascisti meeting. They were Deputies Violette, Moutet and Sangnier. After being overpowered the deputies were beaten with canes and forced to swallow quantities of castor oil.

Violette was so badly hurt he had to go to a hospital. The other two deputies were able to proceed to the meeting.

Governor's Action on Dry Law Is Awaited

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—With the eyes of the nation turned toward Albany today, Governor Alfred E. Smith is preparing either to sign or veto the Cuvillier bill to repeal the Mullan-Gage state prohibition enforcement law.

Indications are the governor will make up his mind within the next few hours.

If the governor approves the bill it means New York state will be the first in the union to withdraw its support for enforcement of the federal prohibition law. If the bill is vetoed, the situation so far as the enforcement of prohibition by the state is concerned, will continue in its present status.

REQUEST FOR EXTENSION OF LEAVE GRANTED

Officer in Bandits' Clutches Observes Regulations of United States Army

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The negotiations now on for the release of the remaining prisoners held by Chinese bandits are progressing "very satisfactorily," according to a cable received by the state department today from Minister Schurman at Peking. Release of the prisoners is expected at any time.

MANILA, June 1.—Despite the hardships of being a captive of Chinese bandits, Major Roland W. Pinger is not unmindful of military regulations.

Today the department of the Philippines, to which he is attached, received a letter from him requesting an extension of his "detached service tour" leave, explaining he was unable to complete his tour in the expected time because of "unforeseen circumstances." His request will be granted.

Lieutenant Edgar Jarman of the Thirty-first infantry, also received a letter from the army surgeon, in which he said:

"While I expected to write you of my travels, I hardly expected to do so from the summit of a bandit mountain. Here I am at last after two weeks' hard marching through mountains. We covered at least 78 miles due to so round-about a way, but we can't be more than twenty miles from where the train was derailed or more than 15 miles from Tsao Chwang coal mines, where the relief train lies. There are but three of us actually at the bandits headquarters, Allen, Solomon and myself. The other thirteen prisoners are two-thirds of the way down the mountain in a ruined Bhuddist temple. I slept there one night myself on an old temple door.

Children Captives

"At this stronghold are between thirty and forty Chinese prisoners taken some time ago and held for ransom. They say they have been here over a year. In one of the miserable little huts I found six little children, thin and emaciated from disease. They appeared to be children of good Chinese families, but I am afraid they will all die before they get out. I gave them tiny picture cards taken from cigarette packages and they seemed pleased in such a pitiful way."

He told of securing the release of his son and the son of Major Allen through appealing to the bandit chief, who has four sons of his own.

NEW REPARATION OFFER EXPECTED

German Chancellor Gathers Data to Present to Allied Nations

LONDON, June 1.—Chancellor Cuno of Germany, according to Berlin advices today, is receiving reports from industrial emissaries of allied countries preparatory to a new reparations offer which is expected next week. This offer is aimed to meet the views of the British and Italians.

German officials are hopeful that, if the British and Italians accept the proposals, they can induce the French to enter into negotiations.

The Daily News, which printed a Paris report that "a Ruhr settlement is being reached," still maintained today there is ground for stating that such a settlement is in the process of arrangement.

The general impression is that, if Germany makes an offer of fifty billion gold marks, France will seriously consider it.

It is understood Germany will propose that the inter-allied reparations commission appoint an international commission of experts to determine how much Germany can pay, and the manner of payments and guarantees. It is similar to the proposal made for a Ruhr settlement by Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes last year.

ANSWERS BIGAMY ACCUSATIONS

Charges Are Not True, Cries Croker's Widow

MRS. BULA CROKER, widow of Richard Croker, the one-time Tammany boss, who today testified in the will contest brought by her late husband's children by a former marriage.

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service

DUBLIN, June 1.—Mrs. Bula Croker, widow of Richard Croker, former leader of Tammany Hall, in New York, testified today in the will contest action brought by her late husband's children by a former marriage. Dressed in black, with a heavy veil covering the upper part of her face, Mrs. Croker spoke in a low voice. She said her people were Oklahoma farmers. She inherited her Indian blood through her mother.

The witness detailed her movements in an attempt to show she never lived at the places where the opposite side claimed she had resided as the apparent wife of Guy R. Marone.

Mrs. Croker denied she ever visited Northampton, Mass., where Mrs. Ethel Croker White, the intervenient, alleged she (Mrs. Croker) had married Marone.

Mrs. Croker recalled litigation at Palm Beach, Fla., after she had married the former Tammany chief. She testified that the name of Marone was never brought up during the proceedings, although names of her relatives and friends in high places were constantly mentioned, including that of Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma.

Other witnesses were race course acquaintances of the testator. They told of Croker's mental condition which, they declared, seemed normal.

One of the grounds on which Mrs. Ethel C. White, Croker's daughter by his first wife, seeks to break the will is that Mrs. Croker, a former Cherokee Indian princess, was the wife of one Guy Marone at the time she married the Tammany chieftain.

Mrs. Croker, through her attorneys, denies the charge, declaring that it is a deliberate falsehood manufactured in the hope that it will influence the court in breaking the will of her late husband.

Before her marriage to Croker she was Bula Benton Edmondson, a Cherokee Indian beauty of Oklahoma. They were married in November, 1914.

She declares that Croker's relatives objected to the marriage and that since that time they have attempted to persecute her.

Girl's Assailant Is Saved From Mob

PITTSBURG, June 1.—Charles Harrison, 52, negro of Nashville, Tenn., barely escaped lynching on the outskirts of this city this morning, after he had attacked Miss Agnes Hickey, 30. He was captured an hour after the attack, while a crowd of infuriated neighbors of the girl shouted "Get a rope and lynch him!" Two police lieutenants and a squad of officers finally got the negro into a patrol wagon.

He is held in the Frankstown avenue police station, under heavy guard. His victim positively identified him. Several other women in the Squirrel hill section have been attacked by a negro recently and the police are seeking to ascertain if Harrison was responsible for these attacks.

ELECTION WON BY FORMER ACTRESS

Woman Chosen to Succeed Husband in British Parliament

BERWICK-ON-TWEED England, June 1.—Mrs. Milton Philipson, former Gaiety actress, has been elected to the House of Commons on the Tory ticket from this constituency, it was officially announced today. The balloting took place yesterday.

The bye-election was made necessary by the unseating of the former incumbent, Mrs. Philipson's husband. The wife now occupies the seat her husband formerly held.

Following the regular election last November, a dispute arose over the vote. The election in this district was declared null and void and it was decided to hold a bye-election. Philipson, deciding not to stand for election, his wife announced her candidacy. She had for her opponents Captain Harold Robson, a Liberal, and G. Oliver, a laborite. Mrs. Philipson, before her marriage, was Mabel Russell. She was noted on the stage for her beauty.

Three Women Members

Protect British in Deportation Suits

LONDON, June 1.—The Irish deportation indemnity bill was passed by the House of Commons on final reading this afternoon without the formality of a roll call. Its passage represents a victory for the new Baldwin government.

URGE DEPOT ON SITE AT CERRITOS AVENUE

C. of C. Committee Gives Out Statement to Public On Advantages

The depot committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, of which George Bentley is chairman, at noon today issued the following self-explanatory communication to the public:

Because of the action on the part of the City Council last evening and their referring the matter back to the station committee of the Chamber of Commerce, this committee met this morning and presents the following:

The location of the new Southern Pacific station is more than a sectional matter, as it is anticipated that the station will serve not only all of Glendale, but the Garvanza district, Pasadena, Eagle Rock, Montrose and the upper foothill section, and western Los Angeles and the Santa Monica Bay district. The new Santa Monica boulevard, York boulevard and Riverside drive highways will make access to the station especially easy and convenient from all these sections. The closer the station is placed to Brand boulevard, the present Pacific Electric tracks, and the new Glendale Montrose tracks, the greater the convenience and service to the general public.

Right Impression

Aside from the convenience features, is the matter of an attractive location that will give the right kind of impression of Glendale to the traveling public. The opening of a 100 foot street from the station to Gardenia at Cerritos gives a chance for an attractive highway entrance to the park grounds around the station that the railroad company itself will develop. At the same time, this location is within easy walking distance from the street cars and the railroad company will build a sidewalk from the station to Brand Blvd. It is 1,000 feet from the Cerritos location to the street car, as opposed to 2,000 feet from the Eulalia location.

The advertising feature of the station and grounds are much greater if located at Cerritos avenue, where all can be so well seen from the San Fernando road, Brand boulevard and Los Feliz Road as well as by passengers on the street cars.

Assistant Manager Williams of the Southern Pacific has personally expressed himself as being better pleased with the Cerritos avenue location, and that he was glad to have the same feeling on

She Likes Creamed Mushrooms

"Sickness is a frost, Nevvy, that nips success in the bud."

One minute essay on health by Dr. Eble, D.C.

Mme. Kathleen Howard, contralto of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, New York, says creamed mushrooms on toast is her favorite dish, and you know at once that Mme. Howard is blessed with the hearty appetite of health.

Stomach power depends on motion and secretion, and these two processes so vital to digestion, in turn depend on a 100 per cent flow of nerve impulses from spinal nerves. Chiropractic spinal adjustments free the spinal nerves for a normal flow of nerve impulses.

Chiropractic spinal adjustments remove the cause of diseases of the head, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, small and large intestines, and the lower organs of the body.

Farm Women to Form Market Enterprise

CHICAGO, June 1.—The farm women of America who tend the hens and agther the eggs are joining in their first great national co-operative marketing enterprise.

Plans were made at a national egg marketing conference held under the auspices of the American Farm Bureau Federation, for the formation of a national co-operative egg marketing enterprise.

Official delegates representing state farm bureaus and other farm organizations, colleges of agriculture, state bureaus of market women's clubs and the United States department of agriculture attended the conference. States represented included New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Texas, Oklahoma, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Utah and California.

Aaron Sapiro, co-operative counsel of the American Farm Bureau Federation, addressing the conference, recommended that the women of the middle west, instead of "trading $2 worth of eggs at the crossroads grocery for fifty cents worth of canned goods," adopt the co-operative sales plan of the Pacific Coast Egg Producers, which, he said, brought them a premium of two and four cents per dozen on the New York market.

EDITOR FINED IN CONTEMPT CASE

Scored Daugherty Injunction In Shopmen's Strike; Pays $300

MEMPHIS, June 1.—G. W. Sanders, editor of the Memphis Press, paid a fine of $300 in federal court here, on conviction of contempt, growing out of an editorial published last September, in which he denounced the Daugherty injunction in the shopmen's strike.

Mr. Sanders, announcing he would not appeal the case, said:

"The outcome of the case is disappointing, in that no way is left open to test the constitutional question of free press. Judge Ross did not touch upon an editor's right to criticise the courts, but merely took exception to the wording of the editorial.

Reversal Impossible

"His finding of fact, which hardly would be disturbed by the higher court, would leave very little chance for a reversal. And, if a reversal were obtained, it would not be a vindication but merely a different construction of the facts.

"Judge Ross found that the wording of the editorial, in which an injunction was compared to the exercise of the arbitrary power of a king, was ridicule of the court and calculated to influence the local court in the trial of the case discussed. This was the case of Jake Cohen, editor of the Memphis Labor Review.

"It has been decided that it is best not to fight this case through to the United States Supreme Court, as at first was planned, because it is certain that a better opportunity for a test case will develop in time."

EQUIP ROADS TO HANDLE TRAFFIC

Improve Systems to Meet Rush of Business Coming in Fall

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The $1,500,000,000 program of equipment purchases and system betterments, adopted by the railroads last month in anticipation of the greatest traffic load in history, this fall, is being pushed rapidly, and there is every reason to believe that the fall traffic will be handled without difficulty, R. H. Ashton, president of the American Railway association, testified before the Interstate Commerce commission.

Mr. Ashton, appearing at the commission's hearing into the adequacy of the locomotives and cars of the nation's carriers, declared that the following encouraging results have been obtained by co-operation of roads, in compliance with the program:

First—Closed cars have been moved from the east to the west, in anticipation of the crop movement this fall.

Second—Open cars have been moved from the west to the east, to move coal this summer.

Third—From January to May 12, a total of 17,029,946 cars of revenue freight have been loaded compared with 14,278,847 cars in the corresponding period last year and 13,311,555 in the same period in 1921.

Fourth—Locomotives in need of heavy repairs have been reduced to 19.4 per cent and freight cars to 9.2 per cent, in line with the provision of the program, which calls for equipment in need of heavy repairs, to be reduced in the case of locomotives to fifteen per cent and in the case of cars to five per cent, by October 1.

New Cars Ordered

Fifth—Stored serviceable locomotives have been increased from 576 on January 1 to 1326 on May 1.

Sixth—From March 15 to May 1, 28,613 freight cars have been ordered, bringing the total of cars on order on May 1, to 115,765. Purchases from January 1, 1922, to May 1, 1923, have totaled 252,257 cars, of which 136,501 have been delivered.

Seventh—During the sixteen months, from January 1, 1922, to May 1, 1923, 4463 locomotives were purchased, of which 2607 have been installed, while 1956 were on order, on May 1.

Big Coal Shipments

Eighth—Coal dumped at Lake Erie ports for shipment by water up the lakes, on May 14, totaled 2,505,738 tons, compared with 1,397,368 tons last year; 2,638,669 in 1921, and 864,523 tons in 1920.

The single disturbing feature of the roads' effort to whip their system in shape for the enormous traffic load this fall, is the labor shortage, which is "slowing up deliveries of material necessary for the maintenance and operation of the railroads," it was said.

Will Re-erect Church On New Pasadena Site

PASADENA, June 1—The most novel job of building moving ever conducted in Pasadena is to start June 1, it was announced by the officials of the First Methodist church. The job will consist of the tearing down of the present stone church of that organization at Marengo avenue and Colorado street, block by block—and numbering each block—and its re-erection at Holliston avenue and Colorado, a mile and a half east, where it is to constitute the new structure of the present Lake avenue Methodist church. Also the latter organization is to build a new Sunday school building adjoining and the whole project will represent an outlay of $200,000.

The old church and $25,000 toward moving was given by the First Methodists to their Lake avenue brethren.

England lost one-half its population from the bubonic plague from 1345 to 1351.

SOLON IS GUEST OF POSTMASTER

Congressman Lineberger Is Behind Plan to Open Branch Office

Assurances of co-operation in the plan to establish a branch postoffice in the eastern section of Glendale were given to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson yesterday by Congressman Walter F. Lineberger, who, with Mrs. Lineberger, was a guest of Captain and Mrs. Jackson in Glendale. This plan has been under consideration for some time and it is expected that it will be carried out in the near future.

Congressman and Mrs. Lineberger were taken to the Industrial Exposition, where the former was photographed posing as the White King, in the booth maintained by the Los Angeles Soap Company, the picture being taken by Dolberg while the visitor wore the royal robes and other trimmings. A number of the officials connected with the exposition were introduced to Congressman Lineberger during his visit to the big tent.

During the afternoon Captain and Mrs. Jackson took their guests to the Sunset Canyon Country Club for dinner and a stop was made at Burbank, where Congressman Lineberger was prevailed on to make a brief address at the dinner of the Rotary Club.

The growth of Glendale and its air of prosperity struck Congressman Lineberger forcibly and he praised the spirit that is shown on every hand here and the expansion that is taking place.

the part of General Manager Dyer and Chief Engineer Bosky, all of whom personally favored this site in a conversation with members of the City Council and Chamber of Commerce committee.

One big advantage of the location at Cerritos avenue is that the station will be a satisfactory distance from the lumber yards and other industrial activities on Los Feliz road and the right of way does not depend upon a little thirty-foot entrance on Railroad avenue. Upon investigation by the railway committee of the Chamber of Commerce it is found that a large majority of property owners both in the southern part of the city and the city itself are in favor of the site at the end of Cerritos avenue. It is urged that the people of Glendale drive down to the present station and then on to the right of way end of Cerritos avenue and see for themselves how much more attractive setting the latter is from every point of view.

The Southern Pacific people have announced that the new Glendale station will be the most attractive of all their stations between San Francisco and Los Angeles, and have expressed themselves as favoring the location at the end of Cerritos avenue, with 100 foot driveway from Gardenia, and that the station surroundings will represent an expenditure of around $8000. All they are asking Glendale to do is to open Cerritos avenue through these two lots and incidentally this is a general advantage inasmuch as Gardenia now runs from Brand boulevard to Eulalia, or four blocks, without a closed street and this opens one in the middle of the tract.

The Southern Pacific Railway company has made the appropriation and let the contract and are ready to at once start the erection of the new station and the other buildings, and is asking only that the city of Glendale open a good wide entrance way to the station at the end of Cerritos avenue, that the Glendale station may have a roomy and attractive entrance and exit.

Depot Committee of Chamber of Commerce—George Bentley, chairman; George Karr, D. Ripley Jackson, William Hunter, Francis Gordon.

Claim Stalwart Wife Imprisons Husband

CHICAGO, June 1.—One hundred and twenty-five pounds of persecuted husband probably bound and gagged, is being guarded in a forty-room rooming-house by an 180-pound wife, according to the assertions of attorneys before Circuit Judge Ryner today.

Charles F. Crane, diminutive and sorely henpecked husband, is endeavoring to secure a divorce from Rosa, his husky mate, on the grounds of cruelty. Among other acts, he charges that she emptied a gallon of gasoline over him and tried to ignite it. She patted him in the face with a poker, a rolling pin, chairs and other articles.

His attorney says Crane called him Saturday but was suddenly choked off, presumably by his militant spouse, who is supposed to have bundled him off to her rooming-house and made him a prisoner. Judge Ryner refused to order a raid of the house and continued the case until Tuesday.

Scientist Expects to Find American "Tut"

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 1.—Prediction that "a king who will rival Tut-Ankh-Amen, of ancient Egypt, probably, will be found in Central or South America" has been made by Dr. William C. Mills, curator of the Ohio Archaeological and Historical Museum.

"Right here in Ohio the Indians established cultures that exceeded in artistic production anything ever found in Europe," declared Dr. Mills, who has made exhaustive studies of prehistoric man in America. He said that Egyptian culture, splendor and romance were more than eclipsed in early American civilization.

"The Spaniards, who came over for gold shortly after Columbus' expedition, returned with great quantities," continued Dr. Mills. "Prehistoric man lived in Ohio as long as 10,000 years ago. Because the Ohio Indians had no form of writing it is difficult to determine just how long ago they held sway in this part of the country.

"Some ancient American ruler will come to light in the midst of a civilization as great, or greater, than that of ancient Egypt," asserted Dr. Mills.

Potato Crop Short One Peck Per Person

CHICAGO, June 1.—The curtailment of potato production by 20 per cent this year promises a shortage of one peck per person, instead of an over-production of one bushel per capital, as last year, the National Institute of Progressive Farming has announced following its preliminary survey of potato growing sections.

There has been a great decrease in acreage, the institute said, as growers whose last season's potatoes were allowed to rot in the fields or fed to livestock, because of over-production which glutted the markets, were not willing to risk a repetition of last year's failure.

In 1922 the potato production reached the record figure of 450,000,000 bushels, the institute said, whereas the estimated yield for 1923 will only be about 360,000,000.

Fastest Barber Quits Work After 37 Years

LONDON, June 1.—The world's most dexterous barber has just retired after working thirty-seven years in the same shop in St Pancras.

There surely never has been another barber in the world quite like William Jones. Once he shaved no fewer than seventy-eight men in an hour and on numerous occasions he has shaved people for three hours, hands running, at the rate of one every minute. A customer of his who had been shaved by Jones daily for three months entered the shop one morning to apologize. "I always thought," said the patron, "that you were deaf and dumb."

Mr. Jones regards that remark as the greatest compliment ever paid to a barber.

Jackson Death Mine Is Now Unwatered

JACKSON, June 1.—Work of unwatering the Argonaut, the famous gold mine here which has been shut down since the fire of August 27, last, in which forty-seven miners lost their lives, has been completed, it was announced today by Supt. H. G. Sheafe, and within two weeks it is expected the body of William Fessel, the only miner whose body never has been located, will have been found.

Fessel's uncompleted message, scrawled on a timber on one of the lowest levels of the mine, was the last word left to the world by the miners who were cut off and suffocated by gas and smoke arising from a fire in the main shaft of the mine.

Jap Laws Sanction Horse Racing Bets

TOKIO, June 1.—Blue law adherents of the United States who would extend their policies throughout the world will receive scant sympathy from the Japanese betting men, who recently gave out some idea of arrangements for the coming horse race season here. Japan, by action of the Imperial Diet ended in March, sanctioned betting at the races, provided the bets placed were not over Y20 ($10) and the dividends were not more than ten times the value of the bet itself. The reason given for this permission, which may be considered a backward step, is that Japan desires to see more interest in the improvement of the breeds of horses in this county.

To Our Friends and Patrons

Please accept this as our apology for failure to present our Fashion Review, scheduled in the official program of the Industrial Exposition for Thursday evening, May 29th, 1923.

We regret very much that you, as well as ourselves, were deprived of the benefits of the entertainment which we had arranged for you, and as previously announced in the daily papers and official program of the Industrial Exposition.

We believe, however, that when the facts become known, you will then realize how impossible it was for us to carry out our part of the program.

We thank you,

SEEK AMERICAN KING TUT IN OHIO

Egyptians' Splendor Thought Outdone By Earliest Race of Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 1.—Archaeologists are digging in the Ohio River "valley of the kings" for an American King "Tut."

When they find him his trappings will exceed in splendor and the relics of the people will evidence a higher culture than the splendor and culture of the Egyptians 3000 years ago, according to Dr. William C. Mills, Ohio State university archaeologist. He believes relics are about to be unearthed in Ohio that would make the ancient Pharoah, could he but see them, turn green with envy.

Many treasures already dug up in this country surpass those of the Nile, Dr. Mills said.

A gold nugget hammered into the shape of an eagle is Dr. Mills' chief reason for believing American art 3000 years ago was superior to that of Egyptian art of the same age.

Beautiful Handiwork

Beautifully carved pipes recently taken from excavations in the Mound City group of Indian mounds are perhaps the most beautiful of the handiwork of the American ancients. They are carved from the hardest stone and their graceful curves, Mr. Mills points out, are a triumph over the short angular carvings of the Pharaohs.

It is written in the museums that the relics thus far brought up indicate clearly the prehistoric tribes of this continent clothed themselves in a few jewels and a smile.

Otherwise they were as "cultured" as their contemporaries across the sea. Where the natives of the Nile used wooden beds, the natives of the Ohio slept upon fabrics woven from the long grasses of the lowlands.

The Egyptians, according to Mills, "had it on" the native Americans in but one respect—they could "write."

Dr. Mills predicts that as soon as modern science has conquered the fevers of Central America and made possible more extensive archaeological expeditions, even better keys to the history of the continent will be available.

She is now Assistant Professor of Nursing at Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City, and Director of Nurses at the famous Henry Street Settlement. Glee Club Presents Concert at Church

A musical treat is promised in the concert to be given tonight at the Central Christian church by the Occidental College Women's Glee club of twenty-five young women, under the direction of Maud Reeves Barnard. Besides numbers by the chorus or club, there will be readings by members and a saxophone duet. Scenes from "The Mikado" will be given in the second part of the program. The Tiger Lily Quartette will sing as a concluding number. Miss Lucille Carney is the accompanist. There will be no charge for admission. An offering for the expenses of the club will be taken. The public is invited.

SATIRE, ANSWERS BRITISH CRITIC

A. Beverly Baxter Explains His Newspaper Merely Is Answering Old Urge

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, June 1.—Great Britain has had no consistently anti-American publicist, since Horatio Bottomley gave up his editorial chair in the offices of "John Bull" and took occupancy of a cell at the Wormwood Scrubs prison.

Bottomley hardly let a week pass without an attack upon America. Since his departure from public life there has been no newspaper which has taken up the vitriolic pen whnch he laid down. All English newspapers have spoken frankly at intervals with regard to American affairs, but none have been persistent American baiters, although at times it has appeared as though Lord Beaverbrook's "Express and Sunday Express were bidding for the honors once held by Bottomley's John Bull.

The Sunday Express, edited by A. Beverly Baxter, a young and perhaps inexperienced newspaperman, has blossomed forth quite consistently with attacks on things American, and especially bitter have been Baxter's attacks upon the American theatre and American culture. These continued attacks finally led to charges being publicly made that Baxter was unfairly anti-American.

Has Worried Air

Young Mr. Baxter, with a worried air and something that seems almost like apology, has devoted more than a column of his paper to explaining that he is not anti-American, nor unfair, but that he is merely indulging in the great British indoor sport—satire. His explanation is hard for Americans to swallow, and if Baxter is a satirist then George Bernard Shaw is a poet; but, at any rate, Baxter has had his day in court.

"Americans seem to have forgotten that satire is the natural mental exercise of the British," said Baxter in his explanation. "We make fun of our politicians; we expose our own absurdities to the crayon of the cartoonist and the pen of the humorist.

"British satire is seldom ill natured. Very often we ridicule the very things we love as well as the things we dislike. That spirit of caricature is in all classes and creeds.

Impulse Irresistible

"But the American apparently does not take kindly to the use or acceptance of satire.

"I am afraid that we shall go on poking fun at our American guests as long as we are on good terms with each other, and may that be forever. The impulse is irresistible.

"There is no anti-American feeling in this office or in this country.

"If there were we would not satirize the United States so frequently, for I repeat that is the British method of expressing interest. And if great trouble ever threatens either Uncle Sam or John Bull we shall cross the floor of the Atlantic and sit together at the same table."

Americans in London are having difficulty in accepting Baxter's explanation and feel that he has satire and spleen sadly mixed.

At any rate, America may rest easily once more. Mr. Baxter does not aspire to the former place of Horatio Bottomley.

A total of nine teams are already enrolled, Mr. Tucker announces, with a prospect of a tenth by Monday night.

Sugar Culture to Be Radio Concert Theme

The Oxnard Chamber of Commerce is furnishing the program for one of the big broadcasting stations in Los Angeles tonight, according to a letter received by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and it is suggested that the Glendale radio fans should listen in and hear a special address relating to the cultivation of sugar beets and the manufacture of sugar from this product of the state.

The sugar article, in view of the present price, is expected to be of timely interest, and the other vocal and instrumental numbers on the program are also said to be of excellent quality.

Class Shows Sympathy For Bereaved Mother

The senior class of the high school last night passed a resolution of sympathy for Mrs. Minnie Searle of 121 East Cerritos avenue because of the sudden death last week of her son, Robert Searle, who was a member of the class. They decided to make the sympathy as real as possible by giving her a portion of the fund in the class treasury which was being saved for a class memorial.

Charges Made Against Gov. Reily Unfounded

WASHINGTON, June 1.—In reporting the resignation of Gov. E. Mont Reily of Porto Rico on February 16, it was stated that a grand jury at San Juan had indicted the governor. That was a mistake. There was a grand jury investigation concerning several officials there, but no indictments were ever returned.

Mr. Reily also has drawn attention to another statement on April 7, 1922, contained in a dispatch from San Juan, which referred to a grand jury presentment charging the then governor and two others with "misuse of public funds for private purposes." It is pointed out that what the grand jury criticised was that "the careless way the funds were handled might cause the government to lose a considerable sum" and that this was not a charge of "misuse of public funds for private purposes."

Statements attributed to Federal Judge Odlin, in a dispatch of March 9, from San Juan, have also been questioned by Mr. Reily. Judge Odlin, when asked as to these statements, said that his reference to Mr. Reily being omitted from the proceedings was because it was clear to him (Judge Odlin) that the district attorney did not believe the statements against Gov. Reily in what he had said. Judge Odlin added:

"Not the slightest reflection upon Gov. Reily was intended by me. The evidence showed conclusively that if his name was used, and I believe it was used, he had no knowledge of it.

"The statement as to the foregoing dispatches is made in all fairness to former Gov. Reily."

Special entertainment numbers will be a dance by Miss Dorothy Dutton of Los Angeles and a dance by Eleanor Marek, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marek of 212 North Verdugo road. There will be other specialties.

Gustaf Dalen, inventor of the automatic light buoys and beacons, was made totally blind during one of his early experiments.

Scientist Unearths Inca Chief's Mummy

BUENOS AIRES, June 1.—A perfectly preserved mummy, believed to be that of an Inca chief, has been unearthed from a hill in the province of Salta, Argentina, near the Chilean border. It was brought here today together with a large number of implements and artistic carvings and art objects of stone, copper, earthenware and onyx which were buried with it. The discoverer, Senor Leonardis, said he found the mummy sealed in a large earthen jar after he had carried out excavating work to a depth of six feet.

The teeth, the nails and most of the hair of the ancient chieftain are in a perfect state of preservation, as are the vital organs, indicating a method of embalming that may be superior even to the Egyptian.

The art objects include serpents, fashioned in copper and also copper receptacles, carved heads of cats, monkeys, and other animals, parrots and serpents.

The method used to unite the different parts of the implements suggest handiwork like that of the Egyptians.

Indiana Town Faces Small Pox Epidemic

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 1.—Faced with the possibility of the worst smallpox epidemic in the history of the city, the board of health and city officials met twice, with the result that orders have gone out to factory executives, school principals and heads of all institutions, municipal, industrial and commercial, to see that all persons are vaccinated, unless they can produce certificates showing they have been successfully inoculated within the last seven years. Twenty-five cases have been officially reported, and the isolation hospital is filled.

TAGGING ALL BASES

The Yanks stepped out to a 7½ game lead in the so-called American league race by taking a fall out of the Red Sox, 8 to 1.

Every member of the Browns hit safely and the troubled Tigers again went down to defeat, 8 to 3. Severeid got five hits in five times up.

Homeruns by Meusel, Groh and Kelly proved of great aid to the left-hand of Jack Bentley, in pitching the Giants to a 4 to 1 decision over the Phils.

Aided by Speaker's homer with one on in the sixth, the White Sox finished second to the Indians by a score of 5 to 4. The Indians moved into second place.

TELLS CHOICE OF LIGHT STANDARD

S. C. Kinch Makes Report at Luncheon Meet of Advancement Body

The Glendale Advancement Association met yesterday noon at 201 East Harvard street and discussed briefly a number of civic interests.

As chairman of the lighting committee, S. C. Kinch of 328 North Brand boulevard recommended the Novalux Union Metal Company's ornamental light standard with two globes for Broadway east of Glendale avenue and for Glendale avenue between San Fernando and Verdugo roads. He said that the cost probably would be somewhat over $3 a front foot, with the standards about 125 feet apart. He expressed his opinion that property owners on Broadway west of Glendale avenue would be so much pleased with the new type of lights that they would be willing to have the upper part of the present five-light standards removed and the new tops substituted at a cost of about a dollar a foot.

Delay in the electrification of the Union Pacific line on Glendale, according to a report of P. J. Hayselden of 901 South Glendale avenue, is due solely to the fact that the Los Angeles City Council has been slow in granting a franchise for the operation of an interchange track. He stated that the primary election and the bus agitation in Los Angeles had both interfered, but that he saw no reason why this application should not be granted within a week or ten days. He called attention to the rising cost of materials and asserted that the Glendale and Montrose Railway is genuinely anxious to get the work started as soon as possible.

Registers Name

In regard to an inquiry as to whether it would not be a good plan to protect the name of "Glendale Hotel" for the new enterprise, Mrs. Mabel L. Tight of 612 East Broadway stated that she had registered this name with the state corporation commission a number of years ago in anticipation of a former hotel. This admission was received with amusement and she was congratulated upon her foresight.

Among others present were Herman Nelson, Mrs. W. C. Fraley, Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, W. E. Mercer, J. L. Lampert, T. H. Addison, C. F. Stuart, George E. Caldwell, F. W. McIntyre, Dr. G. I. Royce, Maurice Hartmann, J. F. Chandler, Dr. Jessie Russell, R. M. Brown and A. Sapir.

Sea Tragedy Seen in Wrecked Power Boat

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Hinting at a possible tragedy at sea, the power cruiser Mary G., believed to belong to a Los Angeles man, was found cast ashore near San Diego late Thursday, apparently after having been abandoned while it was some distance from shore, according to a telephonic report received here.

No trace of the persons who had occupied the boat was found, nor were there any footprints on the sand near where the ship had beached, persons who discovered the boat said.

DOUBT IS CAST ON CIVIC CENTER

Board on Record for Leasing Property to Grammar Schools, Is Claim

During a discussion of the Community Service proposal that the old Glendale Union High school plant and campus be used as a civic center, Richardson D. White, city superintendent of schools, yesterday told the Rotary club that records of the High school board would show that it went on record as favoring the leasing of the High school buildings to the grammar school district.

"We have gone ahead and made plans accordginly," Superintendent While told his fellow Rotarians. "We asked for only a $500,000 bond issue for city schools on the assumption we would have the use of part of the High school next year. The plant is well fitted for work we have to do."

Superintendent White then asked that the Rotary club delay discussion on the civic center project until he could get in touch with the principal of the High school, George U. Moyse, and learn just what was going to be done with the school buildings. It is clearly evident that some one is being "double-crossed" in the Community Service plan to bond the city for the High school buildings to be used as city hall and library, and the first indication of the truth of this assumption was revealed in the Rotary club discussion.

Hold Discussion

Just prior to Mr. White's remarkable statement, Rev. Ernest E. Ford, V. M. Hollister and Dan Kelty had talked on the plan to convert the school into something else. Mr. Kelty stated only the purpose of the club in discussing such matters—that of education. Mr. Hollister read the report of the committee, appointed at some public meeting, favoring the plan, but leaving many of the details incomplete, and the Rev. Mr. Ford talked generally on the building of a strong city, all of the speakers apparently aware that open indorsement of the "high school civic center" would not be heartily received.

The Rev. Mr. Ford did point out the need for a civic center and central park and the desire for a symmetrical city with good effect. All of the Rotarians are pledged to such effort. The "sky pilot" of the club also pleaded for coordination in civic affairs, saying "it is a blunder we already do not have a central park."

At State Legislature

Gil A. Cowan of The Evening News told of experiences at Sacramento while "covering" the legislature for this paper. In addition to several humorous incidents occurring during the session, he remarked that re-apportionment was almost impossible to obtain when religious men in the north would violate their oaths of office and vote contrary to the constitution, thus cutting Southern California out of its just representation.

It was reported by President George B. Karr that the Haynes canyon project for the Boy Scouts was financed for the time being. He also stated that children work is proposed as the major work for the coming year in Rotary International, and he appointed J. E. Phillips, Jack Huntley, Ruie Downing, Arthur Dibbern and R. D. White as a committee to investigate the crippled children's condition in this community.

James W. Newton introduced as his guest Ole Andresen. Ned Durbin, C. H. Burnett, Henry Day and James E. Shelton, of Los Angeles; Jim Egan, of Bakersfield, and James W. Fullman, of Ambridge, Pa., were among the visiting Rotarians in attendance.

It was reported that Rotarian friends of Jack Huntley were now able to visit him at the Research hospital.

$43,000,000 TO IMPROVE SYSTEM

Union Pacific Orders Huge Amount of Equipment to Haul Freight

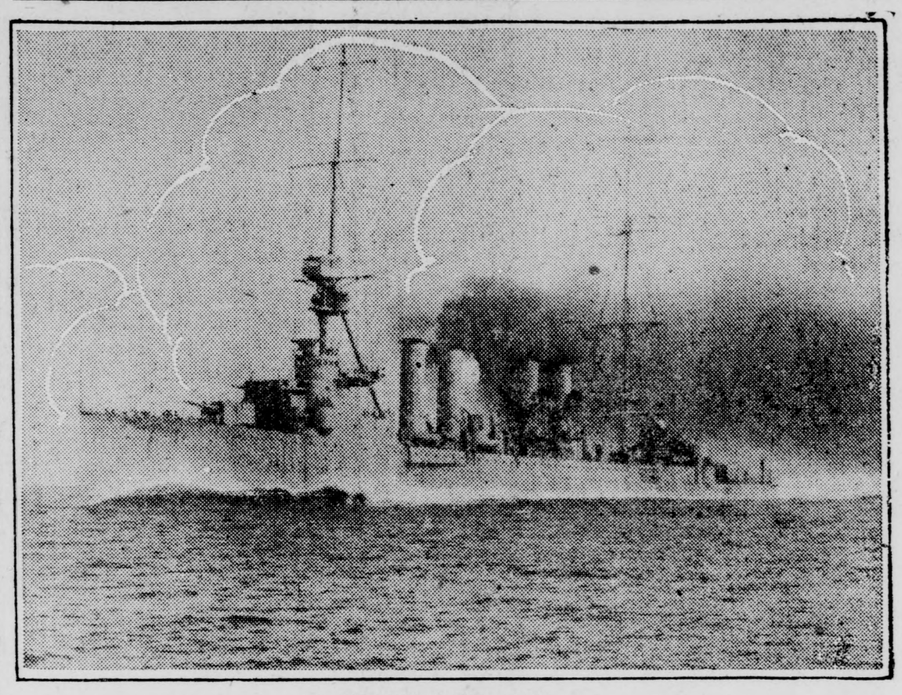
OMAHA, June 1.—Announcement is made by C. R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific, that the company plans to spend almost $43,000,000 this year in new improvements, "to care for increased business and to better serve its patrons by handling business without delay, even during times of peak business." The biggest item is $12,500,00 for new equipment which includes seventy-eight freight locomotives, and about 13,000 freight cars, some of which were ordered last year, and some of which are Pacific Fruit Express cars owned jointly by the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific.

The new double tracking will give the Union Pacific practically a two-track line the entire distance from Omaha to Ogden and Salt Lake. Adding the double track between Chicago and Omaha gives a two track line from Chicago to Salt Lake City, 1515 miles, the longest continuous stretch of double track in the United States over which solid through trains are run.

New construction in Utah opens up territories rich in iron, agriculture and scenic attractions. A line has just been completed from Delta to Fillmore, Utah, and the line from Lund to Cedar City, Utah, is in process of construction. The 1923 program of the Union Pacific contemplates an alternate main line through Boise, Idaho, and a branch in the Idaho Falls district.

"This program is entered upon" says Mr. Gray, "with a firm belief in the prosperity of the western states and a confidence that the people in the territory served by the Union Pacific will co-operate in maintaining the railroad at a point of greatest effectiveness."

Here's the Fastest Cruiser Afloat



The U. S. S. Richmond

An average speed of 34.2 knots an hour, unheard of before for vessels above the destroyer class, has been maintained by the U. S. Richmond, newest scout cruiser, in test runs at Rockland, Maine. The trials have been conducted by the navy department -trial board and the performances are being used as standards for that class of ship. More vessels of this type are under construction.

DEPOT LOCATION BACK TO C. OF C.

City Council Gives Reason Why It Cannot Take Action at Present

The City Council last night in the committee of the whole decided to refer the exact location of the new Southern Pacific station back to the depot committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The following statement was issued by the city administration:

"On account of the fact that the Southern Pacific railroad states that they cannot wait for condemnation proceedings at the foot of Cerritos avenue before building the new Glendale depot, and as the city has no funds available for the cash purchase of the two lots required at this time, the council has decided to refer the matter of the location of this depot back to the Chamber of Commerce depot committee for its action."

Ask for Improvement

A plea for the improvement of the intersection of Adams street and Palmer avenue was made by C. W. Bruce of 1143 East Palmer avenue last night before the City Council. He stated that property owners in the vicinity were ready and willing to buy the projecting point at a reasonable price if Palmer avenue should be run through it according to the plans recently submitted. He said that, although he had originally desired that this small triangular piece of property should be parked, he realized that it was almost too small to warrant the maintenance cost. He admitted that he would be perfectly satisfied to have the whole property paved. He suggested the placing there of a waiting station for the bus line.

The price of $3500 being asked for this property by Thomas P. Welch of 401 South Adams street is, in Mr. Bruce's opinion, unreasonable. He called attention to the fact that the triangle is too small for a residence.

Thanks from Lodges

The City Council last night received and ordered filed the following communication from Alfred A. Baines of 1140 East Chestnut street, secretary of the local lodge of Odd Fellows:

"I am instructed by the members of Glendale Rebekah Lodge 257 and the Glendale Lodge 388, I. O. O. F., to extend their sincere thanks to you for the aid and support rendered by you to these orders on the occasion of the picnic held April 28, 1923, celebrating the 104th anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows."

A number of spectators from the Glendale Advancement association and other interested persons were present.

CONSUMERS MILK CO. STARTS HERE

Opening of Local Branch to Be Marked by Gift of Ice Cream Cones

Saturday fill be a big day in Glendale. The Consumers Milk Company of Los Angeles and Long Beach will open a retail store at 225 South Brand, and to celebrate the opening, 5000 ice cream cones will be given away to those who present coupons taken from the company's announcement in today's Glendale Evening News.

The Consumers Milk Company has made rapid progress during the past year. It was established as a result of the Los Angeles fight on the milk combine, and the company is owned entirely by the people. A limited amount of stock is still available upon a basis which assures big profits to shareholders.

Opening of the Glendale store marks another forward step in the progress of the company. Two stores are in operation in Los Angeles and one in Long Beach. The big ice cream plant is in operation in Long Beach, while the milk plant has its headquarters in Los Angeles.

The company extends an invitation to the people of Glendale to visit the new retail store. Clip the coupon from this issue of the Evening News and present it Saturday for a free ice cream cone

Y. M. C. A. PLANS SUMMER CAMP

Director Rex C. Kelley in Statement Tells About Outing Project

The Glendale District Y. M. C. A. will hold its summer camp this year from June 30 to July 10, on the landward shore of Catalina island, about six miles toward the Isthmus, from the city of Avalon.

The camp has a sandy beach, according to Camp Director Rex C. Kelley, perfect for swimming. In the background rise the Peaks of Red Mountain and Black Jack, the two highest points on the island.

"This camp is open to any boy of Glendale," says Mr. Kelley, "and a boy does not have to belong to the Y. M. C. A. to enjoy this privilege.

"Those attending the camp will leave here by special Pacific Electric train, the morning of June 30, and will arrive at Wilmington in time to catch the boat for Avalon.

"From Avalon, a glass-bottom boat will carry the party over the famous marine gardens to the camp site. Arrived there, seven boys and one adult leader will be assigned to each tent.

Physician In Camp

"The camp has several flat-bottomed skiffs that may be used for fishing and in the final athletic meet, which will include aquatic sports.

"Dr. A. D. Smith, who has offices in the First National Bank building, will accompany the campers and will supervise the general health of the boys. He will carry with him a complete kit of first-aid equipment.

"Glendale parents will feel much more at ease about their boys, with a competent physician in camp."

Further information regarding this eleven-day outing may be obtained by communicating with Secretary Rex C. Kelley of the Y. M. C. A. or with David Black of the Board of Education.

Methodist Pastors to Be Guests at Dinner

Tonight at 6:30 o'clock the Sunday school board of the Central avenue Methodist church will entertain at dinner the pastor and one layman from each of what is termed the Glendale group of the Methodist churches. The pastors of this group are Rev. H. I. Rasmus, Rev. J. C. Livingston, Rev. H. C. Mullen, Rev. V. Hunter Brink and Rev. E. J. Bradner of Eagle Rock.

The speaker of the occasion will be Dr. Jesse Corley, general secretary of the Sunday school board of the Southern California conference.

OPERATED UPON

Mrs. W. J. Eaton of 141 North Delaware avenue, Eagle Rock, was operated upon this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Orchids and azaleas will thrive in common soil to which has been added aluminum sulphate, according to results of recent experiments.

Every spoonful of Kellogg's Bran helps free you from toxic poisons!

Constipation is largely responsible for auto-intoxication that leads to dangerous diseases unless it is not only checked but permanently relieved. Constipation, in fact, is the basis of a majority of human ailments which could be headed off if people would only help rid themselves of this serious, health-undermining condition, which can be easily done.

Constipation must be fought to a finish—not with pills and catharties, which are dangerous to the delicate membranes of the intestines and temporary at best—but with nature's greatest cereal health food—Bran—Kellogg's Bran, which is as delicious as it is beneficial.

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful in its work because it is ALL BRAN. And, to get permanent relief, ALL BRAN is a necessity, for it is the "bulk" of Kellogg's Bran that sweeps and purifies, ridding the system of poisons and bringing conditions to normal. Eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; as much with each meal in chronic cases—and we guarantee that you will get relief permanently and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran is delicious. You do not have to learn to like it. Eat it as a cereal or sprinkle on or mix with hot or cold cereals. Or, cook it with hot cereals, allowing two tablespoonfuls for each person. Kellogg's makes wonderful muffins, griddle cakes, raisin bread, macaroons, etc. Recipes on package.

Leading hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers.

FAST FIGHT CARD FOR BOXING FANS

Kelley, With Injured Finger, Earns Draw Against Johnny McGraw

A good house watched the knuckle dusters "do their stuff" at Twin Pines. Practically every seat was sold and many general admissions were sold.

One or two of the bouts waxed hot and some others waxed exceedingly cold. The opener, between Kid Carr and Amerigo, outclassed one of the semi-windups and the main event went to a slugging draw. Johnny McGraw brought his knuckle invitations to Bob Kelley and Bob went in there with an injured hand, something the bugs probably know nothing about, and accepted his overtures by left-jabbing him dizzy. Kelley went to work with a splint on his left thumb, but he didn't let this prevent him using it to blind his opponent every time said opponent made a grand rush to flatten him.

Kelley packs a punch in the left, as any of the last three boys who have made its acquaintance can testify, but he couldn't use it. So he contented himself with holding his man even after taking the first round by a slight margin.

Both were in good condition and strutted their stuff in A 1 style. Kelley started using his left in spite of the sore thumb in the first round. McGraw swung a couple of overhand rights to the head that couldn't be classed as playful.

In the second Kelley got in a right upper cut and followed it with two lefts to the body without a return. McGraw was taking the battle to Kelley, just as Bob figures to have things go. McGraw's nose took fire in this round from frequent meetings with that left of Kelley's, but he fought his way to an even break by getting in some head blows.

Rushed to Ropes

Round three found McGraw still running into the left jab that bobbed his head back every time he made a rush. He missed a wild swing that was labeled "sleep, in large doses," and put in a right to the body. Kelley rushed him into the ropes with a flurry of gloves, landing a right on the chin and a right to the body, always holding McGraw off with that left jab.

In the fourth Kelley rushed his man onto the ropes again in a neutral corner, but couldn't do much damage on account of the sore thumb. McGraw came back strong and held him even, and the draw verdict of the judges was all they could give them.

Kid Williams, from Lankershim, knocked out Sailor O'Brien in the third round. The sailor took the fight to Williams but couldn't stand the pace. Williams got under one of his rushes in the third and flattened him for the count.

Billy Murray and Pat Murphy put on a bout that the referee stopped and called a "no go." Murray was subbing for Jimmy Fox, who was at the ringside, but unable to go in on account of several boils on his neck. Pat claims Ireland as his native land and Murray claims to be an Irish Jew. Both were pronounced a couple of bums by the bugs, who misunderstood the situation and wanted a murder where only an exhibition was intended. These boys put up three rounds of good exhibition boxing, pulling their punches and showing plenty of fast foot work, but the ringsiders only want several massacres for their money and began yelling "extra bout." Referee Dodge acceded to the demands of the house and stopped it, pronouncing it no bout.

Put On Extra Bout

Promoter Kimpel obliged with an extra bout in place of this flivver, which was not so bad, considering their weights. Louie Dundee of Phoenix and Shorty Walters of Glendale went in at catch weights and put up four rounds of fast milling. Walters was rolling in fat, scaling about 165, and Dundee looked to be in good shape, weighing around 150. The extra fifteen pounds was a big advantage to Walters and he rushed Dundee around at will, although he received some stiff punches.

Kid Carr and Amerigo put up about as good a fight as any of the evening except the main event. These two sparred considerable before getting intimate enough to swap punches, but the feathers flew when they became acquainted. Kid Carr flattened Amerigo in the second and he was apparently out when the bell saved him. But the rescue was only temporary. Carr let loose in the third and Amerigo went to sleep again, inside the first thirty seconds of going, and his day's work was done.

The next card will be put on in three weeks, on June 19. Kid Essex and Kid Williams have been billed for the main event.

An appeal was made from the ring for funds to help defend Bill Hartson on a charge of grand larceny, which resulted from his arrest several weeks ago when alleged stolen property was found in his possession, and the boxing fans responded with their usual generous donations. A fight fan is ever open handed, whatever the cause.

Walter Dodge refereed the bouts and Eddie Wilson and Dick Smith were judges. Larock acted as timekeeper.

Correction Is Made

Through a misunderstanding, the date of the special mass meeting called for the Monte Vista school district, at which important matters will be placed before the voters of the district, was given as Saturday, June 2. The correct date for this meeting is Saturday, June 9. The meeting will be held at the school house.

New Bomb Suspect Held Without Bail

Noah Lerner, a young radical, who went to Russia with "Big Bill" Hayward and returned to promote colonization in Russia, is held without bail in New York City, charged with complicity in the Wall Street bomb outrage of September 16, 1920, in which thirty-three persons were killed. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Doyle, of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, who had gone to Russia with Lerner, assert he boasted he drove "the little red wagon" which carried the bomb to the corner of Wall and Broad streets, where it was exploded in front of the office of J. Pierpont Morgan and the United States Sub-Treasury.

Union Pacific to Spend Forty-two Millions for 1923 Improvements

To care for increased business and to better serve its patrons by handling traffic without delay, even during times of peak business, the Union Pacific has entered upon a program of improvements for 1923 estimated to cost $42,817,708, the principal items of which are:

Branch lines and extensions	$5,992,837
Equipment	11,547,895
Additional main tracks (double tracking)	5,198,756
Additional yard and passing tracks	3,001,022
Shops, enginehouses, tools and machinesy	3,992,621
Water and fuel stations	1,802,783
Station and terminal facilities	2,651,771
Property for terminal expansion	1,143,725
Elimination of grade crossings	858,364
Additional signals and interlocking	241,539
Heavier rails	1,907,260
Bridge betterments	2,024,255
Ballasting and other road improvements	2,454,880
TOTAL	$42,817,708

New construction includes a line from Lund to Cedar City, Utah, opening up a territory rich in agriculture, iron and the scenic attractions of Zion National Park, Bryce Canyon and Cedar Breaks; also an alternate main line through Boise, Idaho, and a branch in the Idaho Falls District. A line from Delta to Fillmore, Utah, not included in the foregoing, was completed last month.

The additional main track will provide double track from Omaha to Ogden and Salt Lake, except for 27 miles. With connections east of Omaha, it means 1,515 miles of double track westward from Chicago, the longest continuous stretch of double track in the United States over which solid through trains are run.

New equipment includes 78 freight locomotives and 57 all-steel passenger train cars. All main line through passenger trains will now be all-steel equipped. These expenditures are in addition to 4,500 box and automobile cars, 45 steel passenger train cars, 80 locomotives and 100 tank cars, purchased last year and delivered this year. Nor do the figures include 8,630 new refrigerator cars of Pacific Fruit Express Company owned jointly by the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, purchased in 1922 and 1923 that will be available for the 1923 perishable traffic.

These improvements are in addition to the regular maintenance program. They will be made from new capital and not from earnings. The work will give employment to a vast number of persons in the territory served.

This program is entered upon with a firm belief in the prosperity of the Western states and a confidence that the people in the territory served by the Union Pacific will cooperate in maintaining the railroad at a point of greatest effectiveness.

Constructive suggestions are always welcome.

President.

Running Out Of Words
Newspaper Like House
June And Its Brides
Wrong Never Makes Right

By Gil A. Cowan

ARTHUR Brisbane, in commenting on his "Today" column now appearing in seventy newspapers from Honolulu to Havana, says: "What a pity it is not better worth reading."

John Steven McGroarty, who is conductor of a page in the Sunday Times magazine, also complains of his inability to say more. And the other writers of current editorials go droning about in their search for words, or subjects, or something.

The trouble is that we all write too much. We wear ourselves out of perspective. We want to do something better than has been done. And when we turn to the works of Watterson, or Longfellow, or any of the other editors and writers of bygone days we see how futile it is to compete.

Before the age of motorcars, before the age of jazz, it was easy to sit back in a comfortable chair, commune with the family cat on events of the day, and finally turn out two or three reams of very readable copy.

"Our Sunny Friend," Eugene Brown of the Times staff, who resides in the neighborhood, uses the more peaceable method of attack in making his readers smile. And John McGroarty climbs up into the Verdugo Hills for inspiration.

All of which is very fine, but too many newspaper workers are closed in by four brick walls and told to turn out literature under high pressure. The jangle of telephones, the click of telegraph instruments and the rattle of typewriters, not to mention the roar of machinery in the printing department, all are disconcerting. Yet from out of it all come newspapers such as Joseph Pulitzer in his heyday never thought of publishing.

The stranger in the average newspaper office is like a child lost in the traffic jam. It is to wonder how order ever comes out of chaos preceding press time. Just why more errors, both typographical and editorial, do not occur is traceable only to the high efficiency of this day of action.

Snap judgment, combined with mental dexterity, are essentials to success in the newspaper game. It is said of Jack Lait, one of the most noted news editors, that he can efficiently do four things at once. There are others who likely equal this record.

When you look at a great building, admiration is extended the architect and contractor. There is no reason why editors and publishers should not be compared with the tradesmen.

Each day the advertising men, the reporters and the circulators sally forth to complete a job which entails time and material sufficient in labor and expense to construct a good sized house or even a large edifice.

The comparison of a house and a newspaper would be very apt, and you can make it yourself after we give you a little start.

The architecture of the new domicile is comparable to the "make-up" of the sheet; the decorations are equal to the pictures in the paper; the selection of the articles for the inside pages is not unlike the tinting or wall paper for the various rooms; the kitchen equipment, the living room furniture, the lingerie and the linen, not to forget the groceries, will all be found in the advertising columns—even to the car in the garage.

So, carry on with the comparison. If you can find anything in a house that isn't represented in some part of the newspaper, tell us about it.

This is the first of June, the month of brides having arrived. And, as we scan the social columns for "bridle" parties, we think how willing the younger generation is to take a chance. With all of the expense and fickleness attendant upon weddings nowadays; with all the responsibility both man and wife take upon their shoulders, the blushing bride and groom pale not in the matrimonial gamble.

In the good old days, when things were a wee bit slow, the lad and lassie extended their courtship over many a moon. But now they get married on sight, even forego a honeymoon and keep right at their work. Fact is, they have no time to stop for love making in this day and age. It is a lost art—almost.

Clara Phillips' spectacular career is fast coming to a close. This one lone woman, who flew in a jealous rage one afternoon and slew another, according to court records, has cost California a pretty sum of money to apprehend.

A motion picture serial would hardly do her adventures justice. And no more thrilling fiction could be written than the news accounts of her meteoric six months of desperate effort to cheat the law.

Yet, through the gilded curtain of words there is seen a terrible lesson for others who would follow in her footsteps.

Her experience should serve as a warning, to others to control themselves, for, after all, wrong will never make right.

It is the immutable law of the universe.

A Good Town

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

Art Conant, walking the highway, approached Willistown. He paused at a small stream to wash his face and hands, brushed his coat vigorously with his sleeve, and summoned again his courage. If he did not land a job in this place he was going to be hungry.

Into the office of The Willistown Courier the lad stepped. "Is the chief in?" he asked of an auburn-haired girl who greeted him with a smile.

"If it's a job," she said, "it won't do you any good. We only have one editor, who is also reporter and occasional ad chaser."

"Just the same, if you'll let me, I'll see him."

Frank Wade, owner of The Courier, looked up at the youth. "Been walking around the world? Expect me to get excited, print your picture and your story, and stake you to a meal? Man, we have had a transcontinental hiker in here every morning before breakfast."

Art grinned feebly. "I did start out to see the world. Sort of had an idea I could work on a paper here and one there and make my way around. It was a good theory and sometimes it works. I need a job now, and I'm ready to settle down. Give me a chance and I'll show you what I can do."

"I've gotta man and can't use another. Let you know if anything turns up." Art walked out. At the desk he stopped and wrote his name on a piece of paper.

"Just in case there is a job," he said to the girl, "send me a line, general delivery, Freetown. That's my next stop. If I don't get on a paper I'll be washing dishes or something. Do you know, I wish I could work in this town."

Daisy, of the front office, smiled again.

"Newspapermen are never too down or out not to be fresh," she said, and watched him walk away. Daisy liked the confident way the lad stepped out on his doubtful quest.

"It wouldn't be so bad if he worked here, she decided.

In Freeton, Art sat on the grass in the park and watched a man throwing food to a flock of ducks. He watched the fowl dart for the crumbs, lift their flat bills and gobble the food. They crowded and fought, but seemed to get all they needed. Art began to wish he were a duck.

Two girls from a department store sat near him opening paper packages which crackled. He moved uneasily as the pungent odor of an orange assailed his nostrils. The girls ate pickles, pastry, and bananas and finished by nibbling slowly on sandwiches. If they would only go away and leave a part of the sandwiches, Art thought, he could move over and no one would notice. He tried not to look at the girls, and turned around. A fat man with a heavy watch charm was sitting on a bench close by. The man smiled.

"Beats me how girls can eat truck like that and not get sick."

The lad, who willingly would have tackled a combination of charlotte russe and tripe, pretended interest.

"It does seem queer," he ventured, "all those indigestible things."

"Yes, and let me tell you this"—fat man was off on a favorite subject—"they don't cook things out here the way they do back where I came from. I like the plain, substantial foods, rich gravy and plenty of everything. When I have a steak I want it two inches thick and done to a turn. When I have a roast . . . ."

"Excuse me," said Art, and he walked back uptown. The world was conspiring against him.

Back in Willistown, Jim Little, editor and reporter, sat on the edge of Daisy's desk and voiced his woes.

"I only stuck around here because of you," he said. "I'm too big a man for this burg and for two cents I'd quit."

Daisy reached in her desk and counted out the two cents.

"Think I'm fooling, do you? Well, I mean it. You watch, I'll be gone in the morning. I'm off to the city and you can tell the boss."

Art Conant washed dishes for his breakfast and for three other meals before he found Daisy's note at the general delivery window.

"The boss needs a man," it said, "and maybe you will do."

"Do you think," Frank Wade asked when Art appeared again to ask for the place, "you can stick? I want a steady man who has no big ideas about conquering the nearby metropolis."

Art looked over at Daisy, and answered when she smiled.

"I'll stick all right. I like this town!"

DRESS WITH SLEEVELESS JACKET

Whatever else one is compelled to forego this season, certainly the three-piece suit can not be omitted from the season's wardrobe. Besides being extremely chic it has the virtue of being exceedingly practical. This model with sleeveless jacket is carried out in Poirette and flat crepe. The waist is slashed at the center-front, underfaced and rolled with the collar, forming revers. If preferred, the collar may be cut off shorter at the back. Medium size requires 1⅞ yards 40-inch material for the blouse, and 2⅛ yards 54-inch Poirette for jacket and skirt.

Pictorial Review Jacket Suit No. 1558. Sizes, 14 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents.

FROCK OF BEIGE JERSEY

Copied directly from the Paris mode, this frock elects to single out the straight gathered panel for original treatment. The closing is at the left side, the neck and one-piece flowing sleeves being stiched with colorful braids. The panel is tucked at the lower edge and falls several inches below the hem of the skirt. The wide girdle is laid in plaits, proving that this form of trimming is invading new fields. Medium size requires 4¼ yards 40-inch material or 3 yards 54-inch material.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1606. Sizes 34 to 48 inches bust and 16 to 20 years. Price 35 cents.

Beauty Chats

THE USEFUL EGG

Everyone knows that one of the easiest and best ways to wash the hair is to give it an egg shampoo, but not everyone, I am surprised to find, knows exactly how this should be done. An egg should be broken into a large saucer and beaten with a fork until it is fairly frothy, and the yolk and white thoroughly mixed. Then the hair is parted and the eggs rubbed directly on the scalp or along the parting. It is parted again and the process repeated until the whole scalp has been thoroughly rubbed with egg. It doesn't matter how much you put on, the thicker the coating the better.

Some people say that the hair itself should not be covered with egg, this theory is quite wrong. If the hair is long and thick two or three eggs should be used, for every bit of it should be coated. The egg should dry on, then be washed off first with luke-warm water and soap, followed by the usual hot water and soap shampoo.

The egg is also useful in treating the complexion. If your skin is blotchy and broken out cover it with the yolk of an egg, the sulphur is healing and soothing, and the egg will cleanse the pores of blackheads and such trouble. As it is slightly astringent the face should be washed first.

The white of the egg is very astringent and valuable for treating lax muscles and wrinkles. The skin should first be washed, then the white of an egg should be rubbed over it and left on to dry for 15 minutes. This should be followed by a cold cream massage, for any astringent is drying, and this is particularly so. Another suggestion is to beat up the white of an egg to a stiff froth, then heat in an equal quantity of milk. Let this dry on the skin, it is a good astringent and not so drying, the milk in itself being a beauty aid. It will probably not be necessary to follow this with a cold cream massage. You can tell best by the feeling of your skin afterward.

L. S. Sixteen — Your scalp needs oil and some stimulating treatment so the hair will be stronger and less brittle. Massage a little oil into the scalp the night before the shampoo and massage the scalp vigorously every day; and clip off all the broken ends. This treatment would restore your hair if you did nothing else, but a tonic included with the massage several times each week will hasten it. A formula for a tonic cannot be given at this time. Send a stamped addressed envelope for it.

M. E. B.—When cornstarch is used for clearing the skin it is dampened and rubbed into the soiled pores. Let it remain on for ten minutes then remove it; follow up with a treatment of cream as the starch will absorb the oil in the skin.

Mrs. C. Soak the gelatine in one-half the amount of water for five minutes. Put remaining water and sugar into a saucepan, bring to boiling point, and let boil till it will spin a thread when dropped from the tip of a spoon. Add the soaked gelatine and let stand until partly cooled; then add the salt and flavoring. Beat until the mixture becomes white and thick. Pour it into pans thickly dusted with confectioner's sugar and let stand in a cool place till well chilled. Cut in squares and roll in powdered sugar."

Reader Friend—"It will soon be time for canning tomatoes. Here is my Tomato Soup Recipe: One peck ripe tomatoes peeled and sliced; add to them a bay leaf and a few cloves. Fry four very large onions, chopped, in one-half pound of butter till well cooked but not brown, taking care not to burn; add these onions to the sliced tomatoes with one pint of white sugar, four level tablespoons of salt and two quarts of boiling water; cook this mixture till soft and then rub it through a fine sieve. Return it to the kettle, add a dash of pepper and six tablespoons of cornstarch (mixed smooth with a little cold water), boil for ten minutes more, stirring constantly, and seal in sterilized glass jars."

Miss A. B.—"Here is my Salad Dressing: Combine one teaspoon of oriental curry powder, one-half teaspoon of French mustard, a scant saltspoon of each of English mustard and cayenne pepper, one teaspoon of finely chopped parsley, one-half teaspoon of finely chopped chives, two medium-sized peeled and chopped onions, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon of finely chopped pepper, and the grated rind of one-fourth lemon. Mix all these ingredients together, then add four tablespoons of vinegar. Mix well again, then transfer to a glass container and add enough oil and vinegar to make a quart of liquid in all (using two-thirds of oil to one-third of vinegar). Once more mix well, press through a strainer, return to the glass jar and store in the icebox till used. Each time you see it, shake well."

HOW TO KEEP ONE'S FRIENDS

"Friends, she said to herself, ought to be able to speak plainly to one another and if they did not agree upon a certain subject, they must fall back upon the deeper agreement to which their friendship had brought them, tested by time and welded by affection."—Archibald Marshall.

I copied these words out of a book I was reading because they seemed to me to express so well the ideal of a true friendship.

And because, at the same time, they point out so well the rock on which so many friendships founder.

I have a true friend whose kindly feeling towards me I could never really doubt. She has done some of the kindest things for me one woman ever did for another. Whenever things go wrong with me, my mind always turns toward her to help me set them right. Her advice is invaluable because it is absolutely sincere and well thought out—and it is never given unless I ask for it.

In fact, she is the pattern of what a true friend should be.

An Unfortunate Manner

Except for one thing. She has, at times, a most unfortunate manner. She will sometimes speak to me in a most rude and ungracious way which hurts both my pride and my feelings. No one likes to be snubbed by friends whose praises they have sung in the presence of people to whom the singing has been done. No one likes to be set right in a manner which suggests to those who hear that the setter-right thinks one is at least first cousin to a moron.

And when these things happen, as they occasionally do, I am filled with indignation against my friend.

A Small Part of Her

Which isn't either strange or inexcusable.

But here is the inexcusable part. In that moment of indignation I sometimes forget all my friend's good qualities and I say: "That ends it. I will not be snubbed that way."

And then the Authorman plays his part:

"You know very well," he reminds me, "that she hasn't the least idea she is snubbing you. It's the way she does to everybody. She doesn't know she is doing it. It's very trying sometimes, but it's part of her. And when you come right down to it, you know it's only an infinitesimal part compared to her kindness and loyalty. Now, isn't it?"

And I always admit that it is.

So when I saw those words in the book I copied them out and showed them to the Authorman.

"Why, that," said he, ready to be indignant at my being more impressed by a book than by him, "is just what I've always said."

"Which is exactly why," said I, taking the wind out of his rapidly filling sails, "I showed them to you."

Keeping Friends Takes Character

A real friendship ought to be a big enough thing to keep all small misunderstandings and irritations in their place.

Suppose you hear that your friend has said or done something that doesn't sound a bit like him, must you assume that he is a different person than you thought him? Why not trust his character as you know him, instead of the report? Rumor does lie once in a while, you know.

That's really being friends.

Making friends is a test of one's personality. Keeping friends is a test of character. You cannot keep your friends unless you are capable of deep-rooted affection, of tolerance and of loyalty.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

I, I, I: I, MYSELF, I, OR THE CONFESSIONS OF A BABY

Chapter LXII—My Birthday and My Toys

My birthday! Five months old today. My word, but time flies. It does not seem but a minute since I was four months old. Of course we all celebrated.

Birthdays are a great event in our home. Daddy always brings mama an extra bouquet or something nice. I got some new additions to my wardrobe, a little extra money put in my bank towards my college fund, and some toys from my admiring friends.

I have lots of toys, but they are apparently only to decorate my nursery with! I don't get them to play with, but I don't care—I have my wonderful hands always, and I have a lovely big white ivory-like ring and a rattle made of the same washable ivory-like stuff.

That is one of the important things about our toys, mamas, to have them washable. They should also be large enough so that we cannot swallow them, and made of strong and firm material with no small parts to them that we can pull off and swallow. I told you something about this before. Some of my toys are teddy bears and other woolly things, but I can't have them for fear I would pull off the wool and eat it! We are such omnivorous little animals, we babies. The toys I do have are tied to my crib so they won't fall on the floor and get dirty.

I find now at my age that I have quite decided preferences, and I can distinguish between my toys. Sometimes I want my ring, sometimes my rattle, and, oh, yes, I forgot I have a rubber doll too. (It has no whistle. Mama removed that on account of the swallowing business.)

We boys like dolls, you know, just as much as girl babies do. There comes a period when we get superior to them only to succumb to their lure again later on. (I joke, mamas! You know what I mean.)

I am fond of my rattle. It makes such a noble noise when I wield it. And it gives me such a sense of power. Daddy says it is symbolic of the noise I shall make some time in the world.

I am a husky lad. I have doubled my birth weight. Just think of it, there is twice as much of me now as there was five months ago! You know it is usual for us to double our weight at about the fifth month, if we have had no setbacks, and we treble it when we are about one year old.

I can hold my head up now without its wabbling, and I expect pretty soon I will be able to sit alone. Just now, of course, I am not able to do that.

Doctor has had so many letters recently from mamas who say they are getting over-weight in their effort to furnish their babies goo milk, and that instead of making their milk richer and better, it is evidently making it poorer and their babies are not thriving. Evidently these mamas must have missed the chapter of my Confessions in which I told you what my mama eats to make me such good milk, and at the same time she does not get over-weight. Doctor has an article on Diet in Pregnancy and Nursing which you may have by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to her in care of this paper.

Meanwhile, mamas, cut down the energy or fattening foods in your diet. Those are principally sugar and fat. Don't take any free fats except butter, which has the valuable vitamins in it, and do not take any rich desserts nor any candy. Eat a moderate amount of fish, meat or eggs every day and also eat two or three ounces of shelled nuts. They are especially good for the milk-making. Eat plenty of the green salads and greens, especially spinach, the whole-wheat bread and some fruits. If you are getting over-weight, do not take an excess of milk. It is best not to take cocoa because of its oil being too fattening. One quart of milk a day is enough to include in your diet.

Exercise, too, mamas, is good for you to help make good milk—some good setting-up exercises every day and some good walks in the open air. But remember about the sugar and oil; cut them down markedly. You also must remember that if you are getting over-weight you are getting too much energy food and the milk glands will not function so well when fat, nor will you be able to make such a good grade of milk.

Au revoir, mamas.

Heart and Home Problems

by Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am in a peck of misery. I am twenty-four years old and a mother of three little girls. I am also a widow.

About four years ago I met a man of the same age. He is good in every way and a man a woman could respect, but for some reason I could never love him. He loves my children and would do anything in this world for them, just as a working man could do. Through a little disagreement we broke up, and yet we are friends.

About ten months ago I met another whom I love with all my heart and he says he loves me. We were to be married this month. He is in debt and it will take him all of the summer to pay it, let alone keeping a family. Sometimes he acts very strangely, but is always good and kind to me, yet very jealous. His folks are all against me. I don't think they care if he marries me, and yet they say some terribly mean things about me and it breaks my heart. Now he wants to wait a while before we get married, which I am willing to do.

I am trying hard to give him up and will go back to the other one and marry him for my children's sake. He can give them a better home.

Must I blot out these last ten months? I try, but it really hurts, for I love him so.

Please tell me what I should do.

BROKEN-HEARTED.

Give up marrying any one for the present and let time help you to solve your problem. If you wait, the man you love may prove a disappointment. You are certainly infatuated with him at present, but if you give yourself time you may find that your regard for him is a flurry and not deep love.

I would advise you not to marry the man you do not love because your motive is so extremely selfish. You are considering the advantage for your children and the fact that you do not love the man does not seem to enter into the bargain. It would be most unfair for you to make life easier for yourself and the children. You have managed so far and can go on a while longer until you feel more surely that you are taking a step for the better. It would certainly not be fair to marry the man you did not love and nourish in your heart a deep love for some one else.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman. I fell in love with another man and had a dear little son by him. Do you think he has a right to keep this baby or my husband? I know it was wrong to love another man, but I could not help it. Do you think he will ever care for me? Sometimes he is good to me and sometimes he isn't. GREY EYES.

You and your husband have a right to the baby. I doubt if the other man will ever care for you. If he had loved you unselfishly, you would never have had the baby. It was selfish and wrong on the part of both of you to deceive your husband. Of course your husband has ample grounds for divorce. If he has forgiven you and wants both you and the baby he is most generous.

Miss K. V. H.: Thank you so much for your letter so full of kindness and helpful suggestions. The boy lives in a small town a great distance from here and therefore your suggestions could not be worked out.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is bobbed hair in style? WONDERING.

The craze for bobbed hair has passed, but it is still widely worn, and in good style.

Dinner Stories

Augustus Thomas, high commissioner of the theatrical game, has a story to relate of his early days which illustrates the very telling effect to be achieved by just a few words. Thomas was then an advance agent, working the territory ahead of a famous mind reader of a generation ago, and generally working it for all it was worth. In Minnesota he managed to land his thought devine on the front pages of the newspapers by asking for a reprieve for two brothers, due to be executed for murder, until his psychic wizard could arrive on the spot, read the minds of the condemned men and determine whether the jury were good guessers in finding them guilty.

The following day, in order to get a good second day story, Thomas decided to work up further interest in a delay of execution—and incidentally in his mind reader—by visiting the jail and having the two prisoners sign an important statement to go to the governor.

"They were men of limited intelligence," says Thomas, "rather illiterate, and so I thought it best to confine their statement to one simple sentence. I merely had them say: 'Ye're willing to wait.'"

Mr. Brown accompanied a doctor on one of his country trips. A small girl came out of the house where they stopped and struck up a conversation with him. Mr. Brown asked her name and she told him and then began enumerating the rest of the family. She named nine in all, but just as she finished an older sister came out of the house carrying a tiny baby.

"Well," Mr. Brown exclaimed, "you didn't tell me there was a baby, too."

"Oh, no, sir," she answered. "We hasn't started countin' him yet."

U. S. SAFE FROM AERIAL ATTACKS

Impregnable Defense Is Outlined by Army and Navy Against Invaders

By GEORGE E. DURNO
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 1.—America is safe from aerial invasion.

While the nation has watched in amazement the spectacular and phenomenal post-war development of aviation, other branches of the army and navy have not remained idle. Working quietly, but efficiently, the coast artillery, the ordnance department, the chemical warfare service, and corresponding branches of the navy have evolved a system of defense against the very development which will render American sea coasts and cities impregnable to attack by air.

Anti-aircraft development, International News Service learned today, has kept pace, step by step, with the rise of aviation since the war, and there is no great improvement in the airplane as an offensive weapon that has not been matched and offset by defensive strategy.

Outstanding among the latest additions to anti-aircraft defense and hitherto undisclosed, are:

Items in Defense

A 37 MM. machine gun now in the course of completion.

A .75 calibre machine gun, the outgrowth of the .30 calibre gun used during the war.

A tracer bullet visible to the naked eye to a height of 7,000 feet.

A sounder capable of warning against oncoming airplanes, giving their direction and location with most exacting accuracy.

A plan of safeguarding important points, such as canal locks, arsenals, etc., against bombing by the use of huge nets carried into position by balloons, which is now in the course of completion.

A gas defensive to be used should any other nation be "so barbaric" as to resort to that forbidden weapon of war.

All of the foregoing developments have been fully and successfully tested or have been developed to a point where success appears to be assured.

Shipping Board Will Consider Steamer Bid

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The United States shipping board late yesterday notified the Columbia Postal Supply Company of Silver Creek, N. Y., author of a $1,051,000,000 bid for the country's merchant fleet, to meet its representatives in New York for a conference on the offer. A shipping board commission, headed by Commissioner Meyer Lissner, is in New York inspecting bids.

HAVE FAITH IN TWO ADAGES

Try 'Do Unto Others' and 'One Good Turn'

Mrs. Helen Norris, Left, and Mrs. Mildred Vierra, Right

Since she was a little girl Mrs. Helen Norris has been a firm believer in the old adage, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." And Mrs. Mildred Vierra for a long, long time has been sold on the idea that "One good turn deserves another." It was a strange coincidence that both went "shopping" in the San Francisco courthouse. Mrs. Vierra helped Mrs. Norris pick out a plain but substantial marriage annulment. Then Mrs. Norris accompanied her to another court and lent her services in choosing an attractive and neat fitting divorce for Mrs. Vierra.

Fake War Hero Gets 150 Days In Prison

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—His plea for probation denied, "Colonel" Edmund J. Black, who declared he was the World War hero who found the "lost battalion" and engaged himself to marry Mrs. Eva Cramer Bressler, wealthy widow, formerly of Detroit, was sentenced late yesterday to 150 days in jail.

Prior to passing sentence the court was advised of the declaration of Mrs. Black, the "colonel's" wife, that the car he claimed he sold her was not paid for and that officers were investigating this phase of the case. Arrangements were made for three eminent alienists to make a thorough physical and psychological examination of Black to determine whether an injury Black claims to have suffered may be responsible for his actions.

Kidnaped Actress Is Held Captive, Belief

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Whisked away from her home in an automobile by a man and a crippled woman, Miss Billie Boyd, eighteen, actress, is held somewhere near Los Angeles against her will, according to Harry Burns, with whose family Miss Boyd resided, he reported to the juvenile authorities. The Burns family was absent from their home when the alleged kidnaping took place, but neighbors reported that a large automobile drove up to the house and Miss Boyd was called by a man in the machine. Miss Boyd ran to the automobile, the neighbors declared, and was hurriedly driven away.

YANKEE COURAGE FREES CAPTIVES

Disregard of Death Threat Causes Brigands to Halt Execution

By EDNA LEE BOOKER
For International News Service

SHANGHAI, June 1.—The bravery of the Americans and other foreigners held captive by the Paot-Zuku bandits saved their lives lives and brought about the release of two of their number.

This was revealed by W. Smith, British subject, who arrived at Lincheng on his way to Peking. Tuesday morning the bandit chieftain announced to the prisoners that they must die because of the failure of the Chinese troops to withdraw.

The Chinese captives fell upon their knees and begged for their lives while the foreigners laughed and started to sing popular camp ditties.

The bandits were seized with consternation at this display of unconcern. They could not understand how men could place such a low value upon their lives. Hasty conferences were had and decision reached not to put the foreigners to death and instead Smith and Major Robert Allen, U. S .A., were unconditionally released late Wednesday.

Glad to Be Free

"Of course I am glad to be released," said Smith after a hearty meal and a few hours' sleep at the relief station at Tsao-Chwang. "But I was sorry to leave the other captives. They all exhibited the finest and truest spirit I have ever met with in all my experience.

"Our imprisonment the first few days was terrible, but after that the hardships were greatly relieved through the great work of the American relief expedition for which the captives are unable to find words to express their gratitude."

Major Allen, as quickly as transportation was available, left for Tien Tsin for a re-union with his wife and son, who were among the original captives, but who were later released.

The Rev. Father Lenfers, aged missionary, today received a cablegram from Pope Piux XI, directing him to strive to obtain the release of Chevalier Musso, prominent Italian held prisoner by the bandits. Father Lenfers immediately departed for the mountain stronghold of the bandits to renew his efforts and to care for Musso, who is reported ill.

SHANGHAI, June 1.—General Feng Yu Hsiang, the famous Christian general of China, declares that he will give his life, if necessary, to save Port Arthur and Dairen from the Japanese.

The strong feeling which has broken out against Japan's holding of Port Arthur and Dairen throughout China is strongly expressed in a circular telegram which has been dispatched to prominent men of the republic.

The telegram which has been read at hundreds of meetings of protest in the larger cities in China and which is spreading feeling against Japan, is as follows:

"The lease for Port Arthur and Dairen has expired. According to the treaty, China has the right to take them back at the date of expiration. But the Japanese government bases its refusal on the rendition of the Twenty-one Demands.

"This act of disrespecting our country on the part of the Japanese government is hard to bear. Since the Twenty-one Demands was not passed by the parliament nor acknowledged by the people, its invalidity needs no further comment. China is a republic and has her constitution. Apparently the more educated class of Japanese have been taking a more friendly attitude toward China, but this refusal is diametrically opposite to their so-called friendly attitude.

"At present the Chinese people —men and women, merchants and students, capitalists and laborers alike—are running here and there, giving public talks, holding mass meetings to show their determination in fighting against the Japanese refusal. This on the part of our people ought to be appreciated and praised by everybody. The intellectual Japanese ought to remember that so small a country as Belgium is still existing. The already perished Poland has risen again. So it is clear that if the spirit of the people is not dead, there is nothing that cannot be accomplished.

"Yu Hsiang, although lacking the ability to save his country at such a crisis, loves his nation, and he will do his best to prevent her falling into the hands of another. Seeing the brutal aggression of the Japanese and realizing the impending danger of our foreign relations, Yu Hsiang is determined to fight until the end; if it is necessary to sacrifice his life to save China from Japan, then sacrificed it will be.

"This telegram is to pour out to the people Yu Hsian's determination, and hoping for more suggestions and enlightenments regarding the solving of this vital problem. (Signed)

"FENG YU HSIANG."

Thousands of Chinese of all classes are holding mass meetings in protest against Japan.

At an important meeting of the Tientsin General Chamber of Commerce action was taken to sever financial relations with Japan, and ways and means were discussed as to the most effective method of boycotting Japanese goods.

In a rousing address the chairman of the chamber said:

"Any one of the Twenty-one Demands is enough to wipe China away from the face of the earth. When parliament refused its acknowledgment and publicly announced it to be invalid it based its refusal on the following three reasons:

"1. It is done by force.

"2. China was a neutral country, while Japan was participating in war. No warring country may force any neutral country to go into treaty agreement. If it is done it is done against international law.

"3. According to the Constitution of China, any treaty agreement made between China and any other power must be acknowledged by parliament. Since it was not acknowledged by our parliament and was forced upon China, Japan is disrespecting China's constitution."

Thousands of stores throughout China are flying white flags with such slogans as "Abrogate the Twenty-one Demands!" "Return Port Arthur and Dairen!" and "Boycott Japanese Goods!"

TIMELY VIEWS of WORLD TOPICS

"Unless we supplement our national idealism with practical efforts based upon the fundamental principle of helping other peoples to help themselves, our idealism must fail of its purpose." Such is the opinion of Willis H. Booth, new president of the International Chamber of Commerce. He continues: "This country must utilize its industrial resources, strength and individual initiative in a measure commensurate with the demands of the hour and thus put at the disposal of the world one of the most efficacious of stabilizing forces. Common sense and economy are needed. A short time ago I said that the economic cost of peace is almost as heavy a burden as the economic loss of war. There is imperative need for an active, practical demonstration of industry also. Let labor and capital really get together and work in harmony and this country will enjoy prosperity to the fullest."

DEMAND FOR SKILLED LABOR INCREASING OVER U. S., SAYS BUREAU CHIEF

There is very little unemployment in any part of the United States, and in all industrial centers there is an increasing demand for all classes of skilled labor, skilled mechanics and farm hands, according to a report made public recently by Francis I. Jones, director general of the employment service of the department of labor.

FRANCIS I. JONES

The report covers the month of April and is based on information gathered by special agents of the government in sixty-five selected industrial centers and involving a study of the business operations of 1,428 concerns, none employing fewer than 500 persons. Thirty-nine of the cities included in the survey report increased employment, while in twenty-six slight decreases are noted.

"A digest of the reports received," says the report, "indicates that there is very little unemployment in any section of the United States. The predicted shortage of competent farm labor is now already a fact, and in many sections of the country the farming interests are being severely hampered by the inability to secure labor for farm work. In the south and southwest they are experiencing for the first time a situation which is causing alarm, as large numbers of men who have always worked on farms have migrated to the larger cities, securing immediate employment in the various industries which are having trouble to find sufficient labor to meet their demands.

"Indicative of the country's sound industrial condition is the fact that a large percentage of the public employment offices report that it will soon be impossible to meet the growing demand for certain classes of labor.

"Interesting features of the survey are the increased activity in the metal mining industry. In the lumbering sections of the country mills are being forced to run on a less than capacity basis because of the inability to secure sufficient workers, and in building and construction lines the scarcity of this class of worker is affecting progress.

"Vehicles for land transportation show the largest increase of numbers employed, with every indication of a continuing increase in demand for this class of workers. Conditions affecting employment in the iron and steel industry continue to improve, and in some of the larger centers shortages of certain classes of labor are evident.

"U. S. MIGHT ADOPT SOME FASCISTI POLICIES," SAYS PROFESSOR, BACK FROM ITALY

There are many things in the Fascisti policies which might be adopted to ethical and business advantage by the United States in both its foreign and domestic affairs, says Arthur Lincoln Frothingham, who has just returned from Italy, where he talked with Mussolini and other Italian statesmen. The matter of the Chester concessions could never have had the consent of the Italian government, he said, because of the idealistic principles upon which the Italian state is now based.

Mr. Frothingham, formerly a member of the Princeton University faculty, went to Italy to study Fascimo with the view to promoting a better understanding of it in the organizations with which he is affiliated, including the National Civic Federation. He returned convinced that Mussolini would remain in power for at least two years longer, by which time his methods would have had a thorough trial, and would probably change the social organization of the country.

"Facismo is based on ethics, on the Christian religion without any connection with the church," he said. "This religious sentiment in Italy is evident everywhere. I was amazed at the number of books on religion I saw in the windows. The whole nation is back of Mussolini. Even the Catholic party backs him to a certain extent within the limits of its own organization.

"As for socialism, it is down and out in Italy, because it has been proved an abject failure in practice. That was shown when the workers took over the factories. An illustration of its weakness is that there has not been a single strike in Italy since Mussolini gained control. The industries are run by syndical cooperation, in which three elements take part—the owners, the technical experts and the hand workers. They are pledged to settle every difficulty without a strike."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JOHNNIE'S COAT

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, not far from his hollow stump bungalow, he chanced to pass the house where Johnnie Bushytail, the squirrel boy, lived. And, all of a sudden, the bunny rabbit gentleman heard, coming from the squirrel's house, a voice saying:

"Oh, dear! I'll never be able to go to school this way! What am I going to do?"

"That sounds like trouble," thought Uncle Wiggily, and, as he was always anxious to help, he quickly hurried into Johnnie's home.

Uncle Wiggily saw the squirrel boy standing in the middle of the room, and Johnnie was holding in his paws a coat.

"What's the matter?" asked Mr. Longears. "Why did you say you wouldn't be able to go to school, Johnnie? Don't you know your lessons?"

"Oh, yes, Uncle Wiggily, indeed I know my lessons" chattered Johnnie. "I have written a nice composition, all about how to gather nuts, and I want to take my composition to the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Stump School."

"Then why don't you?" asked the bunny gentleman. "Come, Johnnie, it's almost 9 o'clock—you must not be late."

"I don't want to be late," went on the squirrel boy, "but I can't go to school with this coat. I've torn a big hole in it and the hole must be mended before I go to school."

"Well, call your mother and have her mend the coat," advised Uncle Wiggily, but Johnnie quickly said:

"Mother isn't here. She had to go to the store right after breakfast, and she left Billie and me here, telling us to hurry to school. Billie ran along, but I waited a minute to polish my shoes, and then, all of a sudden, as I was hurrying out of the door, I tore my coat. Oh, dear! What shall I do?"

"Don't worry," advised Uncle Wiggily with a jolly twinkle of his pink nose. "Since your mother isn't here, I'll mend your coat for you, Johnnie. You can find your mother's needle, thread and thimble, I dare say."

"Oh, yes," answered Johnnie. "But I didn't know you could sew up torn coats, Uncle Wiggily."

"Oh, ho, I should say I could!" boasted the bunny uncle, calm and confident like.

Johnnie found the needle and thread and Uncle Wiggily soon sewed the squirrel boy's coat. Then Mr. Longears said:

"I'll hop along to school with you, Johnnie, and listen to that composition you wrote about gathering nuts."

"That will be fine!" chattered Johnnie, and soon he and Uncle Wiggily reached the Hollow Stump School and neither the Fox nor Wolf jumped out—at least just then.

"How good of you, Uncle Wiggily, to come to our school," squeaked the Lady Mouse.

"I came to hear Johnnie read his composition," explained the bunny gentleman.

"Then you may read it at once, Johnnie, so we shall not keep Uncle Wiggily waiting," said Miss Mouse.

Johnnie put his paw in his pocket to take out his composition. He wiggled a little and then a queer look came over the face of the squirrel chap.

"What's the matter, Johnnie, did you forget and leave your composition home?" asked the Lady Mouse kindly.

"Oh, no, ma'am!" chattered Johnnie. "My composition is here in my pocket, but I guess—Oh, my goodness! Uncle Wiggily sewed my pocket tightly shut when he mended my coat and I can't get my composition out. It's sewed up in my pocket!"

"Bless my pink nose!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "However did I come to do a thing like that?"

"It doesn't matter—no harm at all," laughed the Lady Mouse. "I'll take my scissors, cut the stitches and open Johnnie's pocket for him." So she did, this and Johnnie took out his composition on nuts. But, just as he was going to read it, into the school popped the Fuzzy Fox.

"I want Uncle Wiggily's ears!" howled the Fox.

"Well, you can't have them!" chattered Johnnie. "I have something else in my pocket besides a composition!" With that the squirrel boy took a lot of hard marbles out of his pocket and he threw the marbles at the Fox.

"Bang!" the marbles hit the Fox on his nose.

"Wouchie! Ouchie! Wow!" howled the Fox, and then he ran away because his nose was too sore to nibble ears.

"Good boy, Johnnie!" said Uncle Wiggily. The squirrel chap read his nut composition and the Lady Mouse said it was very good. Then the animal children sang for

"It's sewed up in my pocket, chattered Johnnie.

Uncle Wiggily and every one had a fine time. So, after all, you see, it was a good thing the bunny gentleman sewed up Johnnie's pocket. And if the looking glass doesn't make funny faces at the clock and laugh in its face I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the dandelions.

BILLY WHISKERS

by FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Like him who laughs last, Mrs. Ward told her story about the goat and the wet paint too soon, for when they came the next day to put on the second coat, the mixed paint gave out and Johnnie, tired of trying to mix it, conceived the idea of painting the steps the colors of the rainbow, as there were just as many colors in the cans the painters had left as there are colors in the rainbow. So they began at the top step and painted it red, and so on until they had red, yellow, blue, green, purple, indigo.

When finished, they left it to dry and went home. Mrs. Ward had gone to the station to meet some friends from the city, and when she drove up to let them out of the carriage and saw her steps, she and her friends nearly had hysterics, laughing at their appearance. Her friends remarked that they were glad they did not live next door to a boy like Bobbie.

"Why," said one of the ladies, "I should be in mortal agony every time I left the house for fear he might take it into his head to make a bonfire of it, and that I should find it burned down when I came back!"

"Oh, no! Bobbie isn't vicious or mean in any way; only mischievous," said Mrs. Ward.

As they walked up the lawn they saw a little fellow of about eight years old standing in the next yard looking over the fence. And one of the ladies remarked what a handsome child he was, he had such a sweet, innocent face.

"It is a good thing you don't have a mischievous boy on both sides of you," one said.

Mrs. Ward answered: "My dear, appearances are deceitful! The boy you think so innocent looking is none other but the boy I have been telling you about—Master Bobbie Banks!" Then, turning toward him, "Bobbie, I see you and Johnnie have finished painting my steps."

"Yes, 'um. Aren't they corking looking now? We were going to paint the posts red, white and blue, but we run out of paint."

Though Bobbie failed to trade Billie Whiskers this time, he did not give up, but kept on trying, and if the little folks who read this care to find out what happened to Billy Whiskers after he was traded they will find it in tomorrow's story.

ELECTRIFY FARM HOMES

Only one in ten of the 3,000,000 American farm homes is using electricity. A single horsepower motor is sufficient to run either a washing machine, churn, separator, corn sheller or milking machine and at the same time heat a three-pound flatiron, electrical experts say.

Football games between France and Great Britain in recent years are declared to have been a factor in the mutual friendship of these two countries.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

BY ROY K. MOULTON

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE

A lady in our neighborhood
Decided to clean house
And get rid of a lot of junk
That cluttered up the place,
So she called in a junk man,
And he took a lot of stuff
And put it on his wagon
And drove away immediately.
Among the articles taken
Was an old-fashioned desk
Which had little secret drawers.
A week later the junk man
Returned and rang the bell
And held in his hand a bundle.
It contained a rope of pearls
Which was of considerable value.
The lady had not missed it.
He said: "I found this
In one of the secret drawers
Of the old desk, and here it is.
I wouldn't keep it for anything."
The lady thanked him kindly
And took the necklace from him
And went and put it in a bank,
In a safety deposit box.
P. S.: This never happened.

"No," we replied. "That poor young thing is going to have a chance in life."

During the past two months eighteen barbers have asked the same question. We have fought them off so far, for we are determined that the public shall some day see that mustache. We don't know what a mustache trim costs, but we know it costs something or they wouldn't always keep asking about it.

If Kilbane Gets Right Over, Goodbye Criqui

By NORMAN E. BROWN

If Johnny Kilbane's right gets in right Eugene Criqui will not carry the featherweight championship of the world back with him to Europe. Put that in your lid.

Kilbane's two greatest assets—the two which have carried him through a dozen years' reign—are his dazzling left jab and his deadly short right.

Johnny's plan of campaign battle is to wear down and dazzle his opponent with that ever-present, tantalizing left jab and then get over the right to the heart or on the point of the jaw.

Chaney Says "Amen"

Seven years ago when he was accused of ducking the pile-driving George Chaney, Kilbane toyed with the slugger until, in the third round, he had the Baltimore boy where he wanted him. Then a six-inch blow over the heart with that right ended matters. Kilbane was so sure that his punch had scored a clean knockout that he actually challenged Referee Matt Hinkel to "pick him up."

In the meanest fight of Kilbane's long career, his grudge battle with Alvie Miller in Lorain three or four years back, the champion drove home that right and, as Alvie slumped to the canvas, Kilbane yelled to his former manager in Miller's corner. "There's your champ. Drag him out." The referee had only begun to count. Miller was out and gone.

Two years ago Kilbane, called through by his enemies, took on Danny Frush, boosted as the logical contender. When Kilbane got Frush into the right position in the seventh it was the end. Once more that right traveled—to the jaw, if I recall, and down went Frush. To many it seemed as though the challenger might come up for more. But Kilbane worried not.

Science Replaces Power

Kilbane's deadly blows differ from those of most fighters in that their power lies in the accuracy with which Kilbane places them more than in the man-killing power behind them. Kilbane has the art of reaching the "button" down to the nth degree. He times his short blows perfectly to the chin or over the heart. They land on the exact spot.

Monsieur Criqui may sock Mr. Kilbane on the beezer before Kilbane has a chance to get that right over. But our tip to Gene is—make it snappy, while the chance is there.

The start of Kilbane's deadly right and same right about to land.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

With the closing of the colleges and high schools early in June California, mother, father, sons and daughters again will take up the most popular California summer out-of-door sport—hiking.

In no state in the Union is there such universal use made of the highways. Literally thousands of persons of all ages and of all kinds betake themselves to the trails and roads.

The state is filled with hiking clubs, ranging from the nationally known Sierra club with several thousand members to hundreds of smaller clubs bearing all sorts of fantastic names.

The membership of the Sierra club rarely misses a week-end walk. They do not all go together, but a score of itineraries are made up with a hike master at the head of each. Those walking trips range from three to thirty miles over the week-end, and the members join such squads as they believe are within their compass in the matter of the hike scheduled.

It is not an uncommon thing to see youngsters of very tender years going along. The age of six or seven is not considered too unripe for a good stiff walk, fathers and mothers bringing up their children to a liking of the country walk.

The favorite haunt of the hiker, in and near San Francisco, is Mount Tamalpais, which abounds with trails which pass through the most beautiful country. The mountain itself is only a little more than 2,000 feet high, but as it entirely dominates the surrounding terrain the view from its summit is equally as beautiful as that which is obtained from the summit of Pike's Peak, which is seven times as high.

It is impossible to make any statistical computation of those who take up hiking, but the ferryboats plying out of San Francisco are the best evidence that they run up into the tens of thousands. Every Saturday and Sunday these boats are literally loaded to the guard rails.

No more beautiful sight is presented than when these hikers return to the city. Practically all are laden with flowers of all sorts and kinds and of all hues, and the decks of the boats present the scene of veritable bowers.

The hiking season is at its height in California from June 1 to September 1, but there is no season in the year, not even during the wettest of the months, when there are not hundreds who continue their weekly tramps without cessation. There are few forms of exercise which combine so much of good for the participant.

Ruppert Sole Owner Of New York Yankees

NEW YORK, June 1.—Colonel Jacob Ruppert yesterday became sole owner of the Yankees upon the formal transfer of the half interest of his former partner, Colonel T. L. Huston.

Huston is said to have received $1,500,000 for his share of the club, representing a profit of $1,000,000 in the nine years that he was a member of the famous "Paying Colonels."

it that he earns his salary while there.

Williams of the Philadelphia Nationals had 18 home runs to his credit on May 28. When Ruth made his home run record in 1921, it was not until June 11 that he copped his 18th home run clout thus making Williams just two weeks to the good with a margin of four homers, Ruth having just 14 on May 28.

When he broke the record Ruth had his ninth homer tucked away to his credit on May 10, which puts him back more than two weeks on his present schedule.

The action of an eastern woman's golf club in excluding a 15-year-old girl from its tournament on the ground that she is too young is meeting with considerable criticism that is not exactly reflecting credit on the organization. The girl in question is said to be a young phenomenon at the game and the inference is that the hens don't like to be whipped by a chicken. At all events, it is considered unsportsmanlike, besides which, it is figured that any player worthy of entering a tournament, capable of playing the game and abiding by all the rules, should be permitted to play whether 7 or 70.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"The Kingdom Within," now showing at the Glendale theatre, is hailed as another "Miracle Man." It has heart-tug and human interest of the very highest order, placing it in the category of really great pictures.

The story deals with a sturdy old blacksmith, Caleb Deming, who longs for a son who will be sturdy and strong—a man among men. The child is born a cripple.

The ensuing story makes drama that grips without letup. The old blacksmith comes to realize that his son, Amos, though physically a cripple, is mentally the match for any man. It is this "Kingdom Within" which triumphs, bringing love.

Many fine actors are in the splendid all-star cast.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys As You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

BURBANK

NEW BOOKLET TO BOOST BURBANK

Chamber of Commerce to Send Out Advertising to Many Inquirers

The Burbank Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with the Realty Board, is issuing a booklet depicting in story and picture the numerous advantages of this city.

The booklet, it is understood, will be mailed gratis to such lists of friends as may be received by the Chamber, as this is considered an excellent method of advertising.

The booklets to be mailed out will be accompanied by the request from the Burbank friend that the recipient study it and give to it a reasonable amount of attention.

This is called "personal contact" advertising, a type that has proved very effective in city-building campaigns in many places.

All that local residents need to do, to let any number of their friends know the advantages of this city, is to send in to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce a list of names. There is no limit to the number of names any individual may send in, it is stated.

Cars Must Slow Down

Although exonerated from responsibility in the recent death of Mrs. James Thompson, at the Providencia avenue and Fourth street crossing, the train crew of the Pacific Electric car that caused the fatal accident have been instructed, along with other crews, to proceed at a slower rate of speed in approaching this intersection, hereafter.

The committee which weighed the evidence and exonerated the crew was composed of two representatives of the Railway Commission, two officials from the Pacific Electric Company and two citizens of Burbank.

The committee decided that the rate of speed at this particular crossing was too high and should be cut to not in excess of ten miles per hour. Automobilists, moreover, are admonished not to drive over the crossing at a speed in excess of ten miles per hour. And, furthermore, property owners in the vicinity are requested to trim their trees higher, so that approaching trains may be seen to better advantage.

It was brought out that the Pacific Electric Company has agreed to put up standard crossing signs at each intersection where there are no such signs at present, and the company has agreed to cut speed to fifteen miles per hour at all crossings within the city limits of Burbank.

Fine Fishing

The San Jacinto mountains are full of fine streams, and the streams are full of fine trout—and City Building Inspector Dale is full of the latter, is the gist of his unofficial but authentic (if fish stories are ever authentic!) report of a little outing he took recently, up in the mountains above Hemet.

Mr. Dale enthusiastically declares that the beauty of the scenes through which he passed is superb and he assures any who wish to follow in his trail that the roads are fine, the grades easy and the resort an excellent place to spend a vacation.

WILL OPEN FIRE ON LABOR BOARD

Penn. Railroad's Defiance Is First Gun of Attack In Next Congress

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Pennsylvania railroad's open defiance of the railroad labor board, coupled with the fact that the board apparently has accepted this defiance in meekness and humility, is regarded in Washington as constituting the board's death warrant.

The official execution, according to plans now being perfected by its enemies, will take place early in the new congress. The entire transportation problem is to be opened up under a barrage directed by Senator Robert M. La Follette and his supporters.

Although the Pennsylvania's most recent disregard of the board's orders is now more than a week old, the American Federation of Labor pointed out that thus far the board has taken no steps to brand officials of the Pennsylvania system as "outlaws," as was done to shopmen last summer, nor has there been any appeal for public support of the board in punishing Samuel Rea or his road.

Call Board Failure

"Why," asked the labor spokesmen, "are the shopmen outlaws when they disregard the board's decisions, and the Pennsylvania officers merely disputants when they do it?"

The conviction that the railroad labor board has been an unsuccessful experiment is held not only by labor leaders and railroad officials, but also by high administration officials.

President Harding himself recently confided this opinion to callers, and it is understood the administration will interpose no objections to a quick and early death of the board when the new sixty-eighth congress starts sharpening its knives for railroad surgery in December.

EAGLE ROCK

WEDDED LIFE IS 50-50 BUSINESS

Woman Can Bring Happiness to Home by Good Food And Cheerfulness

"A woman can help her husband in his business by having a good dinner and a good joke ready for him when he gets home," says Mrs. Harold Ide Cruzan of 429 Montiflora avenue, wife of Judge Cruzan of Eagle Rock.

"If a woman considers the proper feeding of her family part of her job, she can be depended upon to produce the former. If the day's events do not seen to be very funny, the children can be depended upon to produce the laugh," Mrs. Cruzan continues.

"Almost every man who has made a success of his business or profession will tell you that more than half the praise is due to the partner he has at home. The game of life is pretty good fun, when it is played on the fifty-fifty basis.

"This applies to recreation as well as work. If the husband has had a strenuous day and prefers vaudeville, his wife should be for it, too; and next time, when she longs for soul-stirring drama, he should accede to her desire.

"She should be ready at a moment's notice to go to a cafe or on a camping trip. In California we have such a wonderful out-of-doors to go to for physical and spiritual refreshment. We bring back contentment from the ocean, inspiration from the mountains and reverence from the stars we gaze at through the redwood trees.

"There is nothing like long walks in open spaces, away from noise and crowds, to give people the mutual sympathy and confidence upon which success is built."

Community Site

The cast of "Clarence" and others from the Eagle Rock Community Players have purchased a site at I. W. Freeman's Briggs Terrace tract, north of La Crescenta, in Pickett's canyon, on the edge of the United States national forest reserve.

On Memorial Day a large group of players and their friends went to the canyon for an outing, and they plan to go again the end of the week.

Plans are under way to organize a club to own this site and build a clubhouse upon it, according to Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer, director of the Community Players, and a committee to this end has been formed, comprising the following members: Mesdames Elgie Lowry Fischer, E. D. Koen, J. B. Squire, Edith Parker, Lerchen, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dorrance.

"Space has been reserved for everyone in Eagle Rock who cares to attend the picnic this Sunday," says Mrs. Koen. "There will be thrilling hikes for the younger members of the crowd and the others will explore the ranch and its charms, which are many.

"For instance, wild deer come right down and drink out of the roaring mountain stream that runs through the canyon, near the ranch-house, as can be attested by their hoof prints, seen clearly the last time we were up."

The community plot purchased by the players is 56 by 200 feet and is bounded on the rear by the forest reserve, so that no one can ever build in back of them, they point out.

Mrs. Anna M. Shaley and daughter Marion, former residents of Glendale, have moved to Eagle Rock, where they are now living at 136 Myrtle avenue. Miss Marion Shaley will enter Occidental College in the fall.
